STATE ASKING BIDS ON MILE OF ADAMS ROAD

The state Highway Department at Harrisburg announced today that it is advertising for bids for the construction of 0.95 mile of roadway from the edge of Littlestown south toward Taneytown.

The bids will be opened August 25 at Harrisburg along with bids on a number of other state road jobs.

Clyde O. Garber, state highway maintenance superintendent for Adams County, said today that the section originally had been listed for resurfacing this year but winter damage to it was so extensive that it was scheduled for reconstruction on a contract basis.

The concreted section of the Littlestown-Taneytown Rd. to the Maryland line is now being resurfaced by the All-State Hanover Company of Harrisburg under a state contract. The section being surfaced by the Harrisburg outfit extends northward from the Maryland line to the point where the reconstruction will begin this fall.

Traffic is being maintained on the section now being resurfaced but when the new construction work starts under the contract to be awarded after the bid opening in August, a detour will be set up.

At the same time the state advertised for bids on the final 2.8-mile section of the Carlisle bypass, Interstate Route 81.

ZETTLE URGES POST-HARVEST CHERRY SPRAY

Sour cherry growers in Adams County have been advised to apply the post-harvest spray as soon as possible after the fruit has been picked, according to a letter from Adams County Farm Agent Frank S. Zettle to county growers.

Zettle said that leaf spot is building up rapidly in many orchards and will cause defoliation unless it is checked. Early loss of leaves permits second growth and predisposes the trees to winter injury, he noted. Powdery mildew is also developing, he added.

If leaf spot builds up by mid-August, the copper-lime application should be repeated without DDT, he advised. Where an additional spray was applied during harvest, the post-harvest application may safely be delayed 10 or 12 days after that application, he said.

For both bearing and nonbearing trees, the contents to use for each 100 gallons of spray are: copper sulfate (2 pounds dilute and 6 pounds concentrate); plus fresh spray life (dilute 6 pounds and concentrate 18 pounds); plus DDT 50 per cent wettable powder (dilute 2 pounds and concentrate 6 pounds).

Zettle cautioned that, where leaf rollers are present and can go over to apples, growers may substitute TDE (Rothane) 50 per cent WP 2 pounds dilute (6 pounds concentrate) for DDT.

The agent said that severe leaf injury may occur when the above copper-containing spray mixture is applied to wet leaves, or to leaves where fresh aphid honeydew is present. If aphids are abundant, growers apply one of the phosphate insecticides, wait a few days and then apply the copper-lime-DDT spray, he said. Where the post-harvest application is delayed for this reason, growers should add 2 pounds dilute of either ferbam or captan with the phosphate as a temporary measure until the copper can be safely applied.

Fixed copper may also be substituted for copper sulfate, Zettle advised. For dilute application, growers should use 3 pounds per 100 gallons of those fixed coppers containing 25 per cent metallic copper (1½ pounds of the 52 to 53 forms), plus 3 pounds of fresh spray lime.

TEETER URGES WARY PUBLIC AS SAFEGUARD

A special committee of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at a luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Lamp Post Tea Room, recommended a program of public instruction to rid the area of cheating by certain roving salesmen, peddlers, solicitors and order takers.

District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter, chairman of the special committee, in answer to "What should we do about it?" said that legally the problem can hardly be solved because, if a registration program is set up, the "real cheaters will not bother to register anyhow." Furthermore, he added, "there have been incidents where salesmen have asked the Chamber to solicit, and later complaints were received from residents that they had been cheated by those salesmen.

"The only alternative lies in a program of educating the general public," Teeter suggested.

PRESS AND RADIO

The press and radio media were suggested as a basis for the program. Perhaps a slogan at the bottom of newspaper advertisements may be the answer, he said. Weekly columns on incidents of cheating or imposition by roving and sometimes unknown salesmen could help considerably, he added.

The public seems always to be looking for a "special bargain or lacks knowledge of the situation," Teeter told the committee. "High pressure salesmanship also leads to fradulent transactions, he noted.

The attorney said one of the main problems seems to be that usually the salesmen are from outside this area, even from other

EAST BERLIN'S TOWN COUNCIL STUDIES BIDS

East Berlin borough council Tuesday evening opened bids for renovation and extension of its water main system and for construction of an elevated water tower.

The borough plans to pay for the work under the new Municipal Borrowing Act which permits a borough council to sell bonds which will not count as a debt against the town. Attorney Charles W. Wolf said the new act in effect permits the borough to act as its own "Authority" instead of setting up a separate corporation in order to sell bonds and carry out the work. He said East Berlin officials, the first town council in the county to plan work under the new act, believe the program will save money—because a separate corporation will not have to be established, and will also retain the control in the hands of the "borough fathers." An "Authority" is established by a borough, but operates independent of the town council, with council's only control being the appointment of members to the Authority board.

ACTION BIDS DELAYED

Bids for both the water system improvements and the water tank were reportedly "much higher" than the estimates of the probable cost, according to Attorney Oscar F. Spicer who was one of the attorneys present for the special council session at which the bids were opened.

The three bids for construction of additional mains, etc., to improve water pressure and supply in the community were: Conewago Construction Co., Hanover R. 4, $78,177.65; Utility Construction Co., York, $86,715.57; James Favino, Red Lion, $89,611.30. The three bids for the elevated water tank were: Pittsburgh-Des Moines Co., Baltimore, $27,120; Chicago Bridge and Iron Co., Philadelphia, $27,150, and Universal Construction, Indianapolis, $39,900.

East Berlin council, its president, Charles Fahs said, will take no action on the bids until its regular meeting August 1.

Other business at the special session included purchase from Ralph W. and Audrey M. Boyer of slightly less than an acre of land for $800. The land, to the rear of Boyer's garage, will be the location for the elevated water tank.

VIEWING TONIGHT

Kennedy's Tough Speech Marks Turning Point In Letting Reds Call Tune

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was clear in President Kennedy's address to the nation Tuesday night that he sought a psychological effect. But it wasn't clear what practical effect can there be in increasing the armed forces by only 217,000 men.

At least he indicated the United States may have reached a turning point.

For years now this country has simply been reacting to Russian actions, dancing when the Russians called the tune. Judging from Kennedy's talk, the United States will now start showing some initiative in dealing with the Soviets.

DOOR OPEN

But his address, tough as it was in warning the Russians they can't take Berlin without a fight, still left the door wide open for a conference with them to settle the dispute peacefully.

At one point Kennedy even indicated the West might be willing to make concessions—but not major ones—to avoid conflict. Just how far he is willing to go with concessions—or being tough — is for the future.

But there could be no doubt he had three targets and three psychological aims:

ROUGHER THINGS

1. The American people—to prepare them perhaps for rougher things to come by telling them the administration intends to take a firm stand on Berlin, even if it means a military showdown with Russia.

2. The Russians—to let them know, if they think the allies lack the will to fight and that threats can scare and split them, that they have war on their hands if they push too hard.

3. The allies—to stiffen their backbone, by putting the United States firmly beside them, and at the same time needle them, even embarrass them, into doing more for their own defense by increasing their own military preparations.

RUSSIAN REACTION

With all this said, the question remains:

Are the Russians going to be impressed by Kennedy's announcement he is adding 217,000 men to the armed forces — particularly when he didn't say he's sending them to Europe where the Russians far outnumber the allies in ground forces?

If they are impressed it will probably be more by Kennedy's expressed determination not to be pushed out of Berlin, leaving it up to them to guess what kind of force the United States would use to stop them.

In any showdown it is unlikely Kennedy would try to stop the Soviets with ground troops.

LAST THREAT

Two years ago—which was the last time the Russians threatened Berlin—President Eisenhower rejected arguments of his critics that the United States should make a big ground-force buildup in Europe to chill Russia's blood.

He said March 11, 1959 that such a build-up was unnecessary because "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe." This could be interpreted as meaning that if war came it would have to be a nuclear one.

Just a few months after that Kennedy—on Dec. 9, 1959, while he was still a senator—was asked if the United States was in a position to fight any kind of war for Berlin except a nuclear one. He said no.

WIDER CHOICE

It's possible he has changed his mind, for he said Tuesday night "we intend to have a wider choice than humiliation or all-out nuclear action."

But if he knows how the allies, tremendously outnumbered on the ground, could hope to stop the Russians short of nuclear war he didn't explain that.

He may have meant that by taking the tough line he followed he hopes to convince the Russians he means business and that the way to avoid a nuclear war is not to start any kind of war.

Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern To State Supreme Court

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence today named Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern to the state Supreme Court—the first woman in the nation to hold an appellate court post.

Miss Alpern will succeed Chief Justice Charles Alvin Jones, who resigned from the bench Friday after 16 years' service. In being named to the high court, Miss Alpern adds another to her long string of "firsts" in jobs attained by a woman. The court post pays $30,000 a year.

In making the appointment, Lawrence said Miss Alpern's name will be sent to the Senate Monday for confirmation:

"Any person taking the place of Charles Alvin Jones is challenged to meet the high standards of judicial ability and broad knowledge which he demonstrated during his long public career.

"By choosing Atty. Gen. Alpern for this post, there can be no doubt that these high standards have been met fully. Few people in this nation have had broader legal experience. As city solicitor of Pittsburgh, as a judge of the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County, and as attorney general of Pennsylvania, she has demonstrated consistently her great talent, her dedication to duty, and her fearless courage in upholding the laws of our land and the rights of all citizens."

Miss Alpern is a pert black haired woman, 5 feet 4 inches tall. However, she has a way of standing and speaking that make her seem much taller.

IS A WIDOW

In private life she is Mrs. Irwin Swiss, of Pittsburgh. Her late husband was killed in a pedestrian accident more than a year ago. He, too, was an attorney.

Her pride and joy is her daughter, Marsha, a student at Swarthmore College.

PUERTO RICAN RELEASED IN CRASH PROBE

State police Tuesday afternoon released Luis Colon Alvarado, 24, Gettysburg R. 3, a Puerto Rican migrant laborer, and wrote a tentative finish to their investigation into the shooting of Mrs. Gertrude Viola Tyler, 44, of Mt. Holly Springs.

Officer Charles Todd said his investigation confirmed the original story given police—that Mrs. Tyler had been shot six times by a .22 caliber pistol by Augusto Mercado Solivan, 32, on Sunday evening at the home of Robert Soto Vasquez, 33, Biglerville R. 1, and that Mercado had been fatally injured when a car in which he was driving Mrs. Tyler to the hospital here, crashed and hurled Mercado from the car.

According to the state policeman, Mrs. Tyler, wife of Shirley Owen Tyler, Mt. Holly Springs, and mother of a 12-year-old boy and a nine-year-old girl, had gone with Miss Evelyn R. Kimmel, 34, Mt. Holly Springs, on Sunday evening to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Soto at their home near Biglerville.

FIRED SIX SHOTS

Later Mercado and Colon came to the Soto home. Mercado, an acquaintance of Mrs. Tyler, started to talk to her and an argument ensued, police said. Mercado then pulled the gun and fired six shots into Mrs. Tyler.

He then sought to drive Mrs. Tyler to the hospital, with Colon accompanying them. About 1½ miles from the Soto home, police said Mercado sought to throw the gun out of the cacr. He apparently lost control of his speeding vehicle when he hurled

C. C. GROUP GIVES REPORT

The industrial committee of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday afternoon at the Hotel Gettysburg and heard a report of its activities this year which it termed "highly encouraging."

The report read by Secretary Douglas Houston showed that remodeling of the former Gettysburg Furniture plant for the town's new paper industry is moving rapidly; Timely of Gettysburg, which purchased the former Panel and Reaser Furniture Co. plants, is in production and "sales are very encouraging." Hercules-Alclor Chemicals at Seven Stars is expected to be in production by August 1.

Chairman J. Howard Gaines, reviewing the number of "interested contacts" made in the hope of obtaining additional industry for the area, told the committee that "we still have desirable sites for industry and we cannot let up our efforts to interest more industry in settling here."

Dr. Seymour Dunn reported preliminary plans for the "Better Industrial Education Day" program to be held under committee sponsorship in October. He said much interest has been shown both by educators and industry and it is expected that about 150 teachers will take part in the program. Under the plans, different groups of teachers will visit industries and then all groups will assemble with the officers of the businesses for a general meeting.

Fairfield Bank Replies To Suit

The First National Bank of Fairfield today answered the assumpsit action brought against it by Penn-Moc Corp., Fairfield by raising preliminary objections to the original complaint.

In the answer filed in the prothonotary's office for the bank by Atty. John A. MacPhail, the bank holds that the original complaint has no details as to dates, amounts, numbers and payees of various checks and without that information the bank cannot prepare a pleading. It asks that the court either dismiss the complaint or require the Penn-Moc Corp. to file a more specific complaint.

In its original complaint Penn-Moc asked the bank to pay it approximately $37,000 that it had removed from Penn-Moc's account when it paid for checks forged against the concern by its former bookkeeper, who is being sought by police at the present time.

Sends Spray Data To Apple Growers

The sixth cover apple spray should be applied 14 to 16 days after the last application, Adams County Farm Agent Frank S. Zettle advised apple growers in information spray letter number 10.

Zettle said that the second generation codling moth adults are emerging and the worms will soon be entering apples. Red-banded leaf rollers are not abundant at this time, but a few can be found in some orchards, he continued. Mites are present in most orchards and with dry, hot, weather, they could cause trouble. The chief disease problems at this time are fruit rots and sooty blotch, and in some orchards apple scab, he added.

The materials for the spray may be found on pages 13 and 19 of the Apple and Peach spray schedule for 1961, he concluded.

HANOVER FIRM IS LOW BIDDER ON NEW BRIDGE

Hanover Construction Co. was the low bidder this morning when the Adams County commissioners opened bids for construction of the new prestressed concrete bridge to be built at Kohler's Mill near New Oxford. The bridge is over the south branch of Conewago Creek between Oxford and Mt. Pleasant Twps.

Hanover Construction, which previously had built the Rebert's Mill bridge for the county, submitted a bid of $47,000. Sanders Construction Co. of Gettysburg and H. J. Williams Co., York, submitted identical bids at $57,300. Maitland Brothers, Littlestown, bid $57,735, and Bear Creek Construction Co., Salungia, $61,970.

Following the opening of bids, the commissioners arranged with the representatives of Hanover Construction Co. to be present next Wednesday at 11 o'clock with bond and insurance and if all are in order the contract will be signed at that time.

CLOSE TO ESTIMATE

Julius S. Wells, the engineer for the bridge, attended the meeting. After opening the bids, the commissioners revealed that Wells had estimated the construction cost at $46,692.

The commissioners received, but did not take immediate action on, a request from the state for participation in paying the expected $48,950 in damages in connection with the construction of approximately a mile of highway in Littlestown and Germany Twp. from Littlestown toward the Maryland line.

At the same time the commissioners directed that a letter be sent the state Highways Department stating that the county will not pay any portion of the anticipated $97,000 damages in connection with construction slightly over two miles of the Route 15 bypass from the Maryland line to Marsh Creek over Middle Creek. The commissioners said they understood the feedral government will pay the larger share of the cost of construction.

COUNTY AID REPORT

Approval was given for payment of $1,219.36 in county aid to Liberty Twp. upon completion of highway work planned by the township.

The commissioners reported that so far six of the local governments in the county have been paid for "county aid" work completed. They included Mt. Pleasant, $3,130.27; Berwick, $971.77; Hamilton, $1,344.81; Hamiltonban, $2,004.71; Latimore, $2,349.06; Union Twp., $1,522.65. A total of $55,807.31 has been allocated so far this year for county aid. Eight units have not as yet made application for the aid. The commissioners explained that sometimes local governments

Must Register For Rodeo Trip

School age boys and girls who wish to take advantage of the offer of a free trip to the State Police Rodeo at Hershey next Monday were asked today to register by Saturday so that arrangements can be made for the necessary buses.

Five local organizations and Chief of Police Jack Bartlett have made arrangements for the free trip to the rodeo. Chief Bartlett said the expenses are being paid by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Moose, Elks, Rotary and Optimists.

Youngsters who wish to go should register at the Recreation Field or with supervisors at any of the local playground areas. Although the police prefer that the recreation facilities be used for registering, they will accept telephone registrations at the borough police station, they said.

The offer is open to school age children, from first grade through high school, Chief Bartlett said. The buses will leave from the high school parking lot "not later than noon" Monday and will return about 6 p.m. Adult supervisors will accompany the children.

The Pennsylvania State Police are providing free admission to the rodeo for the children.

HAVANA RALLY MARKS CASTRO ANNIVERSARY

By WILLIAM F. RYAN

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's revolution celebrates its eighth anniversary today with a giant Havana rally, a major speech by Castro and Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin as guest of honor.

Thousands poured into the capital to cheer the Soviet conqueror of space and to hear the bearded prime minister whose revolt finally overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista two and a half years ago.

Today was the third of four days of celebrations commemorating the ill-fated attack on the Moncada barracks in Santiago in 1953 that marked the birth of Castro's revolution. But a parade of 70,000 Tuesday abounded with pictures of Lenin and Soviet Premier Khrushchev as well as the heroes of the Cuban revolt.

PEACE SIGNS

Electric signs lit up the sky over Havana with the word "paz"—peace.

Gagarin shared the honors with Castro Tuesday night at a swank Soviet embassy reception.

The Russian major, trim in a glistening white uniform but looking drawn after reviewing a day-long parade, listened while Castro talked. The prime minister, neatly turned out in a smart military uniform, white shirt and black tie instead of his usual open-necked fatigues, chatted animatedly through an interpreter and chain smoked long cigarettes in place of the big cigars he normally favors.

The day's festivities had gone off without a hitch, highlighted by a flypast of six jet fighters believed to by Soviet MIGs.

YORK COUNTY GIRL KILLED

Jan Louise Stambaugh, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stambaugh, Manchester, died Tuesday at York Hospital a half hour after she darted into the path of a truck near her home.

The Stambaugh girl and a playmate, Phyllis Hendrickson, 10, were attempting to cross a street on their way to the Hendrickson home, state police said. Trooper Stanley J. Lazusky said the Hendrickson girl called out to her companion of an approaching truck, but the warning was to no avail.

Lazusky identified the driver of the southbound truck as Clarence W. Smith, 54, Harrisburg.

The girl, who would have entered the Fifth Grade at Manchester Elementary School, was a member of Christ Lutheran Sunday School, Manchester, the choral choir of the church and Brownie Girl Scout Troop 216.

Besides her parents, she leaves two brothers, Scott Alan and Steven Ray Stambaugh, at home; paternal grandfather, W. C. Stambaugh, York, and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma J. Chronister, Gardners R. 1.

Funeral services at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in Christ Lutheran Church, Manchester. The pastor, Rev. David E. Ebersole, will officiate, and interment will be in Mt. Rose Cemetery.

COAL MINERS HURT IN CRASH

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Several coal miners were injured today in a crash of two mine cars inside Robena Mine near here.

Uniontown Hospital said it had been alerted to treat about a dozen miners for bruises and chest injuries.

The hospital said one miner, George Vuich, about 37, of Shoaf, had already been brought to the hospital, suffering from a leg injury.

CRASH AT SWITCH

A spokesman for U. S. Steel Corp., owner of the mine, said first reports indicated one miner had suffered a leg injury, another rib injuries and several others had been shaken up.

The spokesman said early reports indicated that two cars carrying miners had crashed into an empty car at a switch.

A trolley, which carries electeric power from a wire into the car motors, reportedly was disconnected just before the crash, the spokesman said.

The number of miners in the cars was not immediately determined.

4-H Dairy Club To Tour Lancaster Co.

The Adams County 4-H Dairy Club will tour Lancaster County August 3 instead of the regular monthly meeting, Associate County Agent John D. Naugle announced today.

The group plans to leave the courthouse at 8 a.m. and join members at the Cross Keys Diner. At 10 a.m. they are scheduled to visit the Southeastern Artificial Breeders Cooperative cattle show. In the afternoon, they will drive through the Amish country, and return to Gettysburg at 6 p.m. Reservations must be made by Monday, Naugle said.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Transportation Co. has asked Common Pleas Court to order the city to complete repairs on the Frankford Elevated line and to bear the additional expense.

The work was left undone by steel firms associated with Eli G. Travis, when alleged irregularities in the repairs were found. The line is operated by the PTC but owned by the city.

The PTC said Tuesday it has obligated itself to repay the city for the $750,000 cost of the work, and the city ought to finish the job.

Keeneland Colts Bring Record Sum

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham paid $70,000 Tuesday night for a brown colt by Turn-To at the Keeneland summer thoroughbred yearling sale.

The owner of Maine Chance Farm here paid the same amount Monday night in setting a new world's record for a filly. The old mark was $63,000.

Another world record was shattered Monday night when John Olin of New York bought a Swaps colt for $130,000.

The Turn-To colt, out of Alanesian by Polynesian, was consigned by the Nuckols Brothers' Hurtland Farm at Midway.

TRACK READY FOR OPENING

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — The stable area at Shenandoah Downs was bulging with thoroughbreds this morning as the night track here prepares to open its 57-night summer meeting Thursday. More than 1,200 runners will be stabled here and at nearby Charles Town for the session, General Manager Bob Leavitt said today as he alloted stalls.

Shenandoah Downs will race through September 30, with post time at 7:15 nightly.

Many of the trainers campaigning at the waning Charles Town day session will stay on for the Shenandoah programs, Leavitt said, while at least a dozen large barns are moving in from tracks in West Virginia's Northern Panhandle and Ohio. The first group will include the Floridian Jimmy G. Lipham with 12 head of horses and his nephew, the sensational young rider, Terry Lipham.

Trainers well known to Shenandoah racegoers and planning to run at the meeting include Vernon Arthur, Marvin H. (Bus) Everhart, Gordon Thomson, William S. (Wash) Berry, and Owen L. (Hots) Follin, all of Charles Town; Robert F. Arnette, Hunton F. Atwell, and Carrol D. Lee, of nearby Loudoun County; Shirley T. Payne, of Berryville, Va.; B. B. Burdette, of Clarksburg, Md.; Ashby D. Clatterbuck and Frederick M. Clatterbuck, of Warrenton, Va., and Basil Hall Jr., of Hagerstown, Md.

HEAVY GUARD IN RHODESIA

By ADRIAN PORTER

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — Salisbury's Negro settlements were filled today with troops and police prepared to crush any attempts to disrupt voting in a referendum on a new constitution.

Heavy guards were posted elsewhere throughout the territory as voters began flocking to the polls. Of the 83,486 registered to ballot, only about 4,000 are Negroes.

Prime Minister Sir Edgar Whitehead ordered police to shoot anyone caught interfering with the referendum. Joshua Nkomo, leader of the National Democratic party, urged Negro workers to stay home from work in protest against the constitution.

USE TEAR GAS

In the African township of Bulawayo, police used tear gas to disperse 1,000 Africans who defied a ban on public gatherings during the voting and massed to greet Nkomo as he arrived to organize the strike there.

Three Negroes have been killed and nine wounded by police fire and about 165 jailed since a series of strikes and demonstrations began Monday in protest against the new constitution. It would give the Negroes only 15 out of 69 seats in the new Parliament.

GIVES UP FOOTBALL

PENNS GROVE, N.J. (AP) — Dong Bragg, Olympic pole vault champion, said today he is giving up a crack at pro football because of an injured ear. He had been at the camp of the Dallas Texans.

Prices Tumbled Then Rallied On London Stock Exchange In Wake Of Emergency Program

LONDON (AP)—Prices fell and then rallied today on the London Stock Exchange in the wake of the government's emergency economic program to make the British government solvent, and support the pound.

At the opening, brokers marked almost the entire stock list down in anticipation of a selling wave. But large-scale selling failed to materialize. Some leading stocks wiped out their early losses and others reduced them.

The program handed Parliament Tuesday by Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd produced a strengthening of the pound this morning in the foreign exchange market.

POUND TAKES HIKE

In terms of the U.S. dollar the pound rose to $2.79 5-32, its highest level since June 27.

Similar improvements also were registered in relation to Continental currencies.

Unhappy Britons dug deeper into their pocketbooks or thought twice about buying as prices rose on a wide variety of consumer goods.

"I think it's perfectly bloody," said one businesswoman interviewed on a nationwide television program.

"There is a great future ahead for the horse," grumbled an automobile dealer.

SHARP CRITICISM

The stiff new measures announced by Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd brought sharp criticism from several newspapers including one that normally supports government's policies.

It also brought outraged cries from people in all walks of life, from business executives to road sweepers.

The House of Commons today begins a two-day debate on the austerity program which is sure to include long and heated Labor party criticism and derisive reminders of the Conservatives' 1959 campaign slogan: "You never had it so good." There was no sign of a Conservative revolt, and the government's majority of more than 100 votes will approve the program at the end of the debate.

BOOST SALES TAX

Broadly what Lloyd did was to hike Britain's sales tax by 10 per cent, slap a 10 per cent surcharge on customs and excise duties, raise the bank interest rate to 7 per cent from 5, and call for a halt on steadily rising wages and soaring stock dividends.

The rise in sales taxes and excise and customs duties immediately boosted the price of almost all household goods, automobiles, cigarettes, liquor, furniture, phonograph records, cosmetics, tea, coffee and sugar.

TIGHTEN CREDIT

The increase in the bank rate to 7 per cent, highest since the Suez crisis of 1956, will tighten credit throughout Britain. It means people will have to pay more interest on mortgages and installment buying charges will go up.

The aim of the austerity program is to cut consumer spending by some $560 million a year to reduce imports of raw materials and finished goods and improve Britain's unfavorable trade balance.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees hoped to find out today whether they can count on Bob Turley's right arm in their bid for the American League Pennant.

Turley, who hasn't helped the Yankees much so far this season, underwent a complete physical examination Tuesday. He is nursing a sore shoulder and arm.

YORK PLAN ON ASSESSMENTS TO BE CHANGED

A three-point program, calling for the enlargement of York County's assessment department and staff and providing more work for elected assessors, was adopted by the county commissioners Monday on a 2-1 vote.

Commissioner Edward J. Fitzgerald protested the action on the basis that it was an "inopportune time" and that he had only two hours to study the final draft on the program.

The new program, first reported on June 30, will include a pioneer project in Pennsylvania—the use of aerial photography to check new properties and comparing new maps with old ones. However, this overlaying process will not take place until 1962 since the county's assessment maps date back six years and there are no late ones for comparable purposes.

While the overall assessment program costs will be greater next year, the amount expended on apprisals is not expected to be as much as the $38,000 contract now held with Cole-Layer-Trumble and which expires next week. The county will not renew this contract, but instead will hire three professional appraisers to work under the supervision of Chief Tax Assessor Evan T. Atkins.

The county will also drop the present contract with Aerial Map Service Company, of Pittsburgh, but will initial a new $28,500 pact with the same firm calling for annual flying of the county in the late fall or early winter.

This mapping will also be tied in with the County Planning Commission's project to obtain additional materials, said Commissioner Emory M. Kilgore.

CASTRO KEEPS PLANE AS U.S. WEIGHS STEPS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A big American airliner twinkled at Havana today like a contraband feather in Fidel Castro's holiday cap—while its passengers philosophically resumed trips interrupted by a hijacking over Florida.

In Washington, government officials pondered what steps to take for getting the Eastern Air Lines $3.5-million prop-jet Electra back from Cuba. It was impounded there in reprisal for seizure of Cuban aircraft in the United States.

The FBI at Miami identified the hijacker as Jose Marin, 35, a 16-year resident of the United States, and prepared charges against him which included airplane theft, kidnaping of pilot W. E. Buchanan and assault of Buchanan with a deadly weapon — a pistol.

OUT OF REACH

Marin was out of reach of U.S. authorities. The last seen of him, Cuban soldiers who disarmed him were leading him away from the hijacked airliner at Havana's Jose Marti Airport. He reportedly told the Cubans he was bringing them an Americacn plane in return for Cuban aircraft seized in the United States to satisfy a tourism advertising bill run up by a Cuban government agency.

In New York, the FBI and police set up security measures at airports to foil a purported Cuban plot for grabbing more American airliners. Police were informed by the FBI that a pro-Castro group met Sunday night at the Casa Cuba Club in New York and planned to sneak hijackers aboard airliners at New York and Tampa.

The prop-jet's 32 passengers and five crew members were happy to be home without being delayed by Castro's 26th of July extravaganza. Some were able to quip about the unscheduled trip to Havana.

PASSENGER QUIPS

"I was bound for New Orleans yesterday when the plane was hijacked," said Al Lanken, 49, of North Miami Beach, who distributes film for TV's "Peter Gunn" show and others.

"Now I think I'll make an Atlanta trip," Lanken chuckled.

George Nathanson, Miami lawyer, said Castro's men "treated us very civilly—except for keeping us in the first place."

The hijacking also changed the plans of Luis Rodriguez, high-ranked welterweight boxing contender, who was en route to New Orleans for a fight Thursday night with Curtis Cokes.

Rodriguez' manager, Ernesto Corrales, said through an interpreter that the fight is postponed — perhaps until a week from Thursday.

HOPE IS DIM FOR RELEASE OF AIRLINER

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials searched today for ways to retrieve from Havana a hijacked American airliner. No course looked very promising.

By freeing its passengers and crew Tuesday without releasing the plane, Prime Minister Fidel Castro indicated he presently doesn't intend to return the four-engine craft detoured to Cuba at the point of a passenger's gun.

The $3.5-million airliner thus becomes one more piece of American property taken over by Castro.

KEEPING BOOKS

U.S. authorities are keeping books on the Castro seizures for a day of reckoning.

The State Department said it was awaiting word from the Swiss on a U.S. demand that Cuba return the airliner. The Swiss Embassy in Havana has handled U.S. affairs in Cuba since the break in U.S.-Cuban diplomatic relations.

What future diplomatic step will be taken, if Castro refuses to release the plane, remained undecided. Washington could formally protest even though similar complaints in the past have failed to budge Castro.

NO LEGAL FRONT

On the legal front, experts said there is no international court to which the case can be taken with a prospect that Castro would bow to a court ruling to turn over the plane.

They suggested Eastern Air Lines, the American owner, could make it difficult for Cuba to use the airliner outside Cuba, however. They said this could be done by legal moves seeking recovery of the craft if it lands abroad.

One question a non-Cuban court might have to decide is whether the plane was legally cocnfiscated by the Castro regime or still rightfully belongs to the American firm.

MONTREAL CASE

A similar question is now before a court in Montreal. The Canadian government seized a Cuban cargo vessel which a private company claims belonged to it before Castro took it over.

U.S. authorities estimated that more than 10 Cuban planes, some hijacked and some on planned flights, have been seized in this country during Castro's regime.

They contended that these seizures were by due legal process, stemming from private citizens' financial claims against the Castro government, as opposed to what they called arbitrary governmental seizure in Havana.

Congressional demands that the United States use force to regain the plane met a cool reception from Kennedy strategists.

Present U.S. policy is to foster economic growth and anticommunism in other Latin-American countries, then put a hemispheric squeeze on Castro.

MISSILE CONTRACT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force Tuesday awarded the Hercules Powder Co. a $50 million contract to develop third-stage propulsion unit for the minuteman intercontinenta' ballistic missile.

Part of the work will be done at the company's research cecnter near Wilmington, Del.

Stassen Refund Okayed By Board

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Tax Review Board Tuesday approved a refund of $589 to Harold Stassen, former presidential adviser. The refund represents abatement of interest and penalties on wage taxes owed from 1954 on through 1956.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and one-time candidate for mayor of Philadelphia, had petitioned the board for the refund after he paid a total of $1,415 in taxes plus the penalty and interest for 1954 through 1956.

The board ruled that it was willing to abate the interest and penalties because it believed Stassen had acted in good faith in not paying the taxes when they were due.

Stassen said he was residing in Maryland at the time, when he served as disarmament advisor to President Eisenhower, and was not a resident of Philadelphia.

SIGNS TWO BILLS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two new bills to create an oil and gas commission in the State Department of Mines and Mineral Industries were signed into law Tuesday by Gov. Lawrence.

The new commission will have the power to order the spacing of wells on application from any owner of oil or gas rights in the territory concerned.

WOULD TRAIN WORKERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee Tuesday authorized Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., to report to the Senate floor the administration's bill for retraining unemployed workers whose skills have become obsolete. Clark is the principal sponsor of the bill.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

J. W. Maring, 64, Dies; Injured In 16-Foot Barn Fall: William Maring, 64, Cumberland township farmer, died in the Annie M. Warner hospital at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon, less than five hours after he had been injured in a 16-foot fall in the barn at his home.

Mr. Maring suffered from fracture of the skull and fractures of several ribs on the right side. Admitted to the hospital in a critical condition about 10:30 o'clock, Mr. Maring soon lapsed into unconsciousness. Death followed early this afternoon.

Mr. Maring had been engaged in cleaning a chicken house at his farm, along the Gettysburg-Taneytown road, about five miles south of here on Gettysburg R. 1. With that task completed he had gone to the barn to secure clean straw with which to cover the chicken house floor and place in the nests.

More Tourists: An indication that tourist traffic on the Gettysburg battlefield this year is considerably greater than in 1935 is found in figures announced today by C. L. Nett, superintendent of the national cemetery.

Mr. Nett states that during the week that ended Saturday night, a total of 20,213 persons visited the national cemetery gate during the corresponding week in 1935. Last week's visitors travelled in 5,299 cars.

Sunday visitors at the national cemetery were estimated at 4,186 with 598 of them being accompanied by battlefield guides.

Indiana Athlete Names Assistant Grid Coach: Harold (Pete) Beeson, a graduate of Indiana university, Bloomington, Indiana, in 1935, has been elected assistant coach — in charge of the line — of the football squad, and varsity wrestling and track coach at Gettysburg college.

This action was taken Saturday afternoon by the executive committee of the athletic council of the college.

Beeson, who comes to Gettysburg after a year as coach at the Muncie High School, Muncie, Indiana, is 30 years old and was born in Illinois.

During his college career he won six varsity letters — three in football and three in wrestling. He also particpated in track and baseball activities. He was a tackle on the football squad.

Pleased With CCC Projects: Robert Fechner, of Washington, D. C., national director of CCC activities, inspected the two camps located on the battlefield, Sunday. He expressed himself as being well pleased with the results of the work in this vicinity.

While here Mr. Fechner went over plans for future camp projects and also surveyed the work completed and that in progress.

Accompanying the director were Miss Josephine Coffin, of the government printing office; Miss Columbia Dickey, Mr. Fechner's secretary, and William Griffiths and Robert Gordon.

Ask For Bridge Promised To Be Erected In 1917: A group of ten farmers of Freedom and Cumberland townships, including members of the board of road supervisors of both townships, came before the Adams county commissioners at their weekly session this morning at the court house and asked the board to erect a bridge that they stated had been ordered built by a board of commissioners in 1917.

The bridge that is asked would span Marsh creek at the John Waybright farm, several hundred yards north of the Maryland state line. There is no bridge on the crossing now, the commissioners were reminded, and when the water in the creek is raised by rains the road is impassable.

Today's Talk

ENJOY THE RIGHT THINGS

Unhappiness is a disease, just like measles or whooping cough.

And unhappiness spreads and is more contagious than either of these diseases. In fact, you don't have to be "exposed" to unhappiness to get it. You—we all do—carry the germs of unhappiness within us. It is only our will and sincere desire to be happy that gives us the upper hand over them.

Within us are billions of healthy germs that are continually whipping the unhealthy ones that are all the time being born within us to do damage.

And the general who directs all the important battles for us is our general desire.

If we look high, we resolve nobly, if we "make up our mind" that we shall be happy and that we will not allow any forces within us to "bluff" us, then surely we shall grow in courage, power and character.

Early and late we must learn to enjoy the right things.

We must believe that there is more beauty and happiness in the world than ugliness and unhappiness, and go ahead with our tasks glad of the chance to do our best and serve the most.

There are so many right things in this world. Usually when it looks all mixed up and rather scrambled, the trouble lies with us and not with the world at all—else there wouldn't be so many who think when "God's in His heaven all's right with the world."

Just put into practice the enjoying of right things a while and see what it does for you.

Right thoughts make right things. It never fails.

Just Folks

THE NEAR-OPTIMIST

He makes his mistakes, but still has hope
The things he plans himself will win,
The set-backs that he meets do not Affect his smile or lifted chin.
"Oh, bear adversity!" he cries.
"With courage and you'll soon pull through."
But you should hear him growl the times
Our baseball team drops a game or two.

He says there is no level road
To great success; it's rough and long,
And men who travel it must be Prepared to oft encounter wrong.
And he prefers a man who sticks
Through weal and woe and sees it through.
But you should hear him roast the team
When it has dropped a game or two.

He prates of loyalty a lot,
And says that faith's an asset great;
Though disappointments come at times,
A man should bravely work and wait.
He vows that all will come out right
If man his best will only do.
And yet, "The pennant's lost," he growls
When our team drops a game or two.

Manpower Hike May Be First Step In Action To Meet Soviet Threat

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's call to the colors for thousands of Americans may be only the first step toward mobilization to meet the worldwide Communist threat.

Kennedy indicated as much in moving to boost the nation's manpower by 217,000, to mass heavier conventional firepower, and to array more ships and planes to ferry U.S. fighting men to any area.

"In the days and months ahead," he told the nation Tuesday night, "I shall not hesitate to ask for additional measures from the Congress, or exercise any of the executive powers I possess to meet this threat to the peace.

EVERYTHING ESSENTIAL

"Everything essential to the security of freedom will be done; and if that should require more men, taxes, controls or other new powers, I shall not hesitate to request them."

Kennedy called for a boost of 217,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen by doubling or tripling draft calls which recently have been running at 6,000 to 8,000 a month, and by mustering some reserve and National Guard units.

Counting earlier requests for 25,000 more men, this would swell the total of U.S. men-at-arms to 2,735,000.

COULD DRAW OTHERS

If he feels the need, Kennedy could draw heavily on 400,000 National Guardsmen and 1,700,000 Army ready reservists as well as thousands more Marine, Air Force, and Navy reserves.

More than two weeks ago, Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared he was cancelling announced plans to slash the Soviet armed forces which now stand at about 3.6 million men. He said he was increasing arms outlays this year by about $3 billion.

To maintain strategic U.S. bombing strength, the President announced he was setting aside, at least for now, plans to retire the aging six-jet B47s. There are about 1,000 of these 600-plus-mile-an-hour bombers in this country's long-range striking force.

PREPAREDNESS BILL

To do all this, Kennedy sought a $3,247,000,000 boost in this year's defense budget. Counting previous requests, this would bring to $6 billion the additions he has asked for preparedness since taking office. It would bring the military budget to $47.5 billion — the biggest by far since World War II.

Of the latest increase, about $1.8 billion would be used to buy nonnuclear arms and equipment.

Under Kennedy's plan, the Army would go up from 875,000 to 1 million, the Air Force from 825,000 to 888,000, and the Navy from 625,000 to 657,000.

Kennedy previously asked Congress to boost the Marines from 175,000 to 190,000.

BOOST MARINES

The additional 125,000 army troops would be used to fill out present Army divisions, and to make more men available for prompt shipment to threatened areas.

The Army now numbers 14 regular divisions—five in Germany, two in Korea, one in Hawaii and six in the United States.

To bring about a relatively quick beef-up in vital airlift and sealift capability, Kennedy looked to the Air National Guard and the mothball fleet of reserve ships.

Study Clum Bank Fire Situation

HARRISBURG (AP) — Coal mine operators would be required to prevent culm bank fires in disposing of mine refuse under a resolution adopted Tuesday by the 11-member State Air Pollution Commission.

The commission also decided to hold its next meeting Sept. 25 in Wilkes-Barre and make a first-hand examination of culm banks presently burning.

The problem of burning mine refuse banks is one of the state's most serious air pollution problems.

The commission plans to draw up a procedure for licensing of coal mine operators to insure that mine wastes are properly handled to head off fires.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Reading Railroad ended 60 years of paying regular quarterly dividends on first preferred stock Tuesday when the directors deferred the payments.

The railroad has not paid a dividend on second preferred stock since 1960 and has not paid a dividend on common stock since May 1959, when the payment was 25 cents. The last first preferred quarterly payment was 50 cents in June.

Reading reported a deficit for the first half of 1961 of $6,210,782, compared with a net income of $967,072 for the same period last year.

The company said it had a net deficit of $14,417 for the month of June, as against a net income of $205,798 for June 1960.

states. Probably the best way to avoid being "taken is to know who your salesman is," he suggested. "The best way to meet this challenge is to encourage an investigation by the householders and business people before they sign or buy anything," he concluded.

PUBLIC REST ROOMS

The Civic committee also discussed at some length the idea of placing public rest rooms somewhere in Gettysburg.

The three main problems, it was noted, are whether Gettysburg needs such a facility; where rest rooms should be located, and how the initial cost and upkeep funds would be raised.

Civic Affairs Committee Chairman Ralph K. Will, who presided at the meeting, appointed W. C. Varian to check with the county commissioners, Travel Council, and Retail Merchants Association to see what has been or will be done in regard to building new public facilities.

Other subjects the committee is expected to look into in the near future include traffic lights on the square, a Christmas home decoration contest, and a practical politics course for the general public.

Zeigler, all wounded. Others from the 87th wounded were William Sheads and Ephraim Snyder. Sgt. Elias Sheads, who had both feet shot off by a shell, died later of the wound. Adjutant Martin of Oxford Twp. was another among the 87th fatally hurt in the fighting.

The fighting had two other effects on Gettysburg. Governor A. G. Curtin was supposed to speak here on July 4, 1864. He reached York Springs when word came that the Confederates were in the Cumberland Valley and he turned back to Harrisburg to prepare for defense of the state. And, according to the papers of the time, practically every horse in the town and country was taken into hiding.

Dodgers Beat Phils And Move Up As Reds Tumble For Braves; Giants Win

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

A trio of Dodgers from old Brooklyn paced the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-2 victory over Philadelphia Tuesday night and moved the club within a game of the leading Cincinnati Reds in the National League race.

The Reds fell before Lew Burdette's brilliant two-hitter and lost 2-0 to the Braves at Milwaukee.

Gil Hodges slammed a two-run homer, Johnny Roseboro belted a two-run triple and Sandy Koufax, a Brooklyn native, pitched a six-hitter and fanned 10 of the forlorn Phillies.

GIANTS ADVANCE

San Francisco's third-place Giants advanced to 7½ games of the Reds by battering five Pirate pitchers for 22 hits in a 16-7 rout at Pittsburgh. The St. Louis Cardinals, off winging on Ken Boyer's grand slam homer in the first inning, nipped the Cubs at Chicago, 6-5.

The crowd of 10,391 at Philadelphia included the die-hards from Brooklyn who usually make the 90-mile trip to root for their heroes no matter if they wear Los Angeles on their uniforms.

A Brooklynite hollered "Come on Gilly, belt one!" when Hodges, 37, strode to the plate in the first inning with Tommy Davis and Frank Howard on base. Gilly whacked the ball into the upper deck in left field just like he used to do at Ebbets Field.

BURDETTE IN FORM

Roseboro's triple, scoring Daryl Spencer and Charlie Neal in the fourth, cemented the victory. Rosey came in on a triple by Maury Wills who also had a double and single.

Burdette, back in his old form, yielded an infield hit to Chico Cardenas in the fourth and a sliced double by Don Blasingame in the seventh. He cooled off Frank Robinson who went blank after hitting in 19 consecutive games, an NL high for the season. Hank Aaron gave Burdette 12-6 the run he needed by poling his 24th homer, a 420-foot blast in the fourth off starter and loser Ken Hunt 9-7. Burdette drove in the other run himself.

Harvey Kuenn and Matty Alou each got four hits and drove in four runs apiece in the massive San Francisco attack against the fading Pirates. The Giants broke the game wide open with seven runs in the righth and four more in the ninth. Reliever Stu Miller 8-3 was the winner and Pittsburgh starter Joe Gibbon 6-5 the loser.

Boyer's homer gave the Cards four runs and Charley James' homer another bit it was an unearned run that brought St. Louis its victory. That came across in the sixth on catcher Dick Bertell's throwing error, one of four Chicago miscues. Ray Sadecki 8-5 was the winner and rookie Jackie Curtis 6-5 the loser.

Tuesday Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hitting — Roger Maris, Yanks, hit four homers—two in each game—and drove in eight runs in 5-1 and 12-0 victories over the Chicago White Sox.

Pitching — Lew Burdette, Braves, stopped the league-leading Reds with two hits in Milwaukee's 2-0 victory.

SAYS DODGERS COMPARE WELL WITH '59 CLUB

By GEORGE ESPER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Manager Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers said today this year's club "compares well" with the world championship team of 1959 and has "a little more depth."

"If someone has been hurt, and we've had many injuries," Alston said, "we've been able to replace them with someone just as good.

"This is the same type of club as the 1959 team in a lot of ways. We're not going to overpower anyone. We run pretty good and win the close ones. And there's plenty of team spirit, the same as in '59."

MOVE UP IN RACE

The Dodgers, by defeating Philadelphia 7-2 Tuesday night, climbed to within one game of National League-leading Cincinnati which dropped a 2-0 contest to Milwaukee.

But when told of the news, Alston declined to make any predictions. Instead he borrowed a line from Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I like to feel we have a good as chance as anyone," said Alston. "We'll play them as they come, one game at a time.

"I think the race may get even tighter. Milwaukee has been playing real good ball and they have as much power as anyone. San Francisco isn't out of it yet."

Sandy Koufax struck out 10 to run his total this year to 167, tops in the NL, and allowed six hits in picking up his 13th victory of the year against six defeats.

Alston agreed that Koufax has improved a great deal over last year when he finished with an 8-13 record.

"Koufax's big improvement," said Alston, "at least 90 per cent of it is in his control and especially control of his curve ball.

Koufax walked only one man on Tuesday night.

Turks Capture N.O. Jr. Baseball Title

Paced by the outstanding hitting of Mike Bennedict, the Turks won the 1961 New Oxford Junior Baseball championship Tuesday evening by downing the Clubbers 12-1.

Bennedict blasted out two home runs and accounted for nine runs batted in. Despite the fact the Turks have one more game remaining, the new champs are 9-0 on the season while the second place Clubbers are currently 7-2, also with one contest to go.

WANT GREEN TO RESIGN

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republican lawmakers from Montgomery Delaware and Bucks Counties have called on Rep. William J. Green to resign his congressional seat rather than attempt to gobble up parts of their counties.

The legislators staged a meeting here Tuesday to protest a reported attempt by Green's Philadelphia Democratic organization to annex parts of the three counties to make up enough population to retain Philadelphia's six seats in Congress.

They said that if Green stepped aside his district could be absorbed by the remaining five districts in Philadelphia and "the suburban counties could be spared."

Pennsylvania is due to lose three of its 30 congressional seats due to population changes.

Reapportionment into 27 districts along population lines must be done by the State Legislature.

State Democratic leaders have indicated they might introduce a reapportionment bill this week.

Fairfield Little League

The Braves forced the Yankees into a tie for last place in the league standings by capturing a 19-3 decision Tuesday evening.

The Braves scored in every inning but the fourth. The big rally came in the third when eight runs crossed the plate. The eight scores came on four hits, a pair of walks and three Brave errors.

The Yankees tallied single runs in the first three frames but went scoreless in the final three. The first run came on singles by Sieferd and Joe Logingier, a fielder's choice to R. Crist and an infield miscue.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sixty-nine golfers were scheduled to tee off today in the qualifying round of the Pennsylvania Amateur Golf Tournament at the Pittsburgh Field Club.

Only 16 of the entrants will remain in the tournament after today's 36-hole stroke play. They will compete in match play Thursday and Friday.

BIG 33 GAME HARD TO PICK

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — With such an array of stars as is naturally found in the annual Big 33 high school all-star football game it is hard to pick in advance any one or two who can be expected to stand out.

However, both West Coach George (Lefty) James and East Coach Carl Snavely think they have good candidates for running honors on Saturday night in Bog (The Great) Scott and Cosmo Iacavazzi, respectively.

Scott is a 6-2, 200-pound halfback from Connellsville who scored three of his touchdowns during last fall's high school competition on an 80-yard punt return and two 70-yard runs from scrimmage.

HAS ABILITY

James says of Scott, "He has the ability to break a game wide open, either on the offense or on defense. This is due to his quickness. I think football is more of a game of quickness than speed. And Scott is so quick that he can make a mistake and come back and correct it.

Iacavazzi is a 5-11, 185-pound West Scranton High product. He is not as explosive as Scott but is a grinding short-yardage runner who can break away for long gains.

Forces Strengthen Positions In Battle-Scarred Bizerte

By RODNEY ANGOVE

TUNIS (AP)—French and Tunisian forces in battle-scarred Bizerte were strengthening their military positions today against the threat that fighting would break out again.

The French commander, Vice Adm. Maurice Amman, called the situation explosive and said the French had to police the area. The French showed no sign of withdrawing from the city of Bizerte in accordance with the U.N. Security Council cease-fire resolution calling for a pullback by both nations.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba told a news conference Tuesday "fighting is bound to start again" unless the French withdraw into the Bizerte naval base, leaving the Tunisians in control of the channel between the Mediterranean and the base.

BOTH ERECT DEFENSES

In Bizerte Tunisian troop still held only the native quarter. Arrivals from there said they were erecting protective ramparts for infantrymen guarding the gates of the walled quarter.

Across the street, in the modern European section, French paratroopers were throwing up sandbagged positions. The heavily armed French also took over more strategic street corners and re-established tank - reinforced checkpoints outside the city.

The paratroopers, hardened by fighting in Algeria, were at many points, searching vehicles and the few refugees still straggling toward Tunis.

FRENCH IGNORE DAG

Bourguiba was reported under fire within his own government. Certain high Tunisian officials reportedly suggested the president, by throwing a siege around the base last week after the French rejected his ultimatum to evacuate it, had precipitated a "crisis from which Tunisia could not profit.

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold continued conferences with Tunisian officials, but so far his presence had no visible effect on the tense situation. He came to Tunisia at Bourguiba's invitation. The French ignored him.

Negotiations to make the cease-fire permanent were still blocked by a point-of-pride dispute over where to hild the talks. The French insisted os a neutral site; The Tunisians held out for the local government headquarters in Bizerte.

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — Modern home conveniences are eroding "family solidarity" and reducing "personal relationships" in the family, the Rev. John McLaughlin, a Jesuit professor of Fairfield University, told a meeting here.

"Time was when dinner required the father to provide fuel and food, children to peel the potatoes and mother to supervise the cooking—all working in a convivial complex of personal engagement," he said. But now, he added, precooked and prepackaged foods and other mechanical devices are breaking up the family connections.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

PROPHETS and TEACHERS—2

The faith of John the Baptist gave him the courage to rebuke a ruler, yet the humility to acknowledge some one greater than himself. He reproved Herod "for all the evils which Herod had done"; yet when his followers questioned whether he were Christ, John answered: "One mightier than I cometh, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose."

Put "T" Back In Guttenberg Name

GUTTENBERG, Iowa (AP) — Residents once again have decided to leave the extra "T" in the community's name, even though the German printing inventor for whom it is named spelled it Gutenberg.

The story is that a draftsman, a century ago misspelled the name in drawing the original town plat. Those who advocated the change cited tradition and the possible distinction of being the only town in the world to honor the printer. Opponents said letterheads — and habits — would have to be changed.

The special election, paid for by the Guttenberg Rotary Club, resulted in a 208-166 vote against the change. In 1949, the proposal was defeated 12788.

PALMER EYES PGA LAURELS IN CIRCLE BID

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Arnold Palmer, determined to complete the cycle reserved only for the greats of golf, begins his bid for his fourth major title within 16 months Thursday in the PGA championship at Olympia Fields.

The bronzed, strong boy from Latrobe, Pa.—fresh and eager after winning the British Open 10 day ago—needs only the PGA championship to put the fourth and final jewel in the golf crown he has worn for two years.

The 1960 Masters and U. S. Open champion, Palmer heads a field of 169 pros who will play 18 holes daily Thursday through Sunday over the Oylmpia Fields North Course. It was the site of the national PGA tournament the last time in 1925, when Walter Hagen won his third of a record five PGA titles.

ALL TOP NAMES

All the top names of the game with the exception of Ben Hogan will be challenging Palmer, including defending champion Jay Hebert; Masters champion Gary Player of South Africa; three-time champion Sam Snead; U. S. Open king Gene Littler, and most anyone else you'd care to name in the Who's Who of golf.

A go-for-broke golfer who tries to overpower even the most cantankerous courses, Palmer has had six full rounds and countless practice sessions to get reacquainted with the larger American ball.

"I'm having much less trouble this time," Arnold said after firing a practice 68, two-under-par for the 6,722-yard, par 35-35—70 North Course.

Of those revealing practice scores after Tuesday's warm-ups, only Player had a better round. The jazz-loving South African, who beat Palmer by a single stroke in the Masters this spring, shot a 66 with four birdies and an eagle 2 at the 375-yard 15th hole.

Hebert and former asters champ Claude Harmon matched Palmer's 68.

Conewago Little League

Little Jack Gouker, one of the outstanding pitchers in the Conewago Little League, tossed a near perfect no-hit, no-run ball game as the Knights of Columbus defeated the Klunkers 8-0 Tuesday evening.

Gouker went the distance allowing but three walks, the only three men to reach base, and also struck out 16 batters. Dick Arigo and Brent Staub tossed for the losers, with Staub allowing only three safties.

The K. of C. scored four runs in the bottom of the first to put the game on ice. Three bases loaded walks and a sacrificec bunt by Dave Swope accounted for the four tallies. Gouker also got the only extra base blow of the game, a double in the second frame when he drove in Noel. Gouker later scored on a fielder's choice. Noel topped the winners at the plate with a perfect two for two.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Williamsport's drive to overtake first-place Springfield in the Eastern League suddenly has stalled while Binghamton has moved into high gear, gaining ground on both clubs.

The third-place Trips opened a three-game series at Williamsport Tuesday night on a successful note beating the Grays 6-4, and gaining a full game on them.

Binghamton, now only two game behind the Grays who are 5½ out of first, also picked up a half game on Springfield which could manage only a split of a doubleheader with Reading. Springfield dropped the opener 3-0 but took the nightcap 8-4. In the only other action, Johnstown split a pair with Lancaster, taking the opener 5-3 and losing 7-0 in the six-inning nightcap abbreviated by rain.

Roy Peterson, ace Binghamton righthander, picked up his 12th victory against three losses but lasted only 6 2-3 innings.

Hear Arguments On Grid TV Deal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Arguments will be heard in U. S. District Court Thursday on a petition by the National Football League to suspend until Dec. 31 a ruling invalidating the league's two-year $9,300,000 television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The arguments were scheduled Tuesday by Judge Alan K. Grim who last week ruled on a motion of the U. S. Justice Department that the NFL-CBS contract was in violation of a decision he handed down in 1953 and therefore in violation of the antitrust laws.

Big Little Baseball Loop

The Elks moved into third place in the league standings by pounding out a 10-1 decision over Phillips 66 in Big Little League action Tuesday night.

The Phillips squad tallied its lone run in the top of the first frame when Dick Harman led off with a single, stole second and continued to third on an infield miscue. After one out, Gary Herring lined a single to right, driving in Harman.

Following a five-run surge in the first five innings, the Elks climaxed its scoring with five more big runs in the bottom of the sixth. Tom McDermitt was hit by a pitcher ball, Rick Fiscel lashed a single to center and Tom Collins uncorked a double to right scoring McDermitt.

After Jim Newman skied out, Richie Fair reached first via an error allowing Fiscel to score. Ron Newman drove in two more runs with a line single to left and eventually scored when Heflin got on base by way of another miscue.

Tom Collins went the distance on the mound to rack up the win. Collins gave up but three hits and struck out 10 men. Herring and Bob Britcher tossed for Phillips. Collins was also the batting star of the game as he went four for four at the plate.

BOSTON EYES POLISH STAR

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Now that he has taken on all comers in the broad jump, Ralph Boston suddenly has found himself pressed into emergency service as a hop, step and jumper.

The world record holder (27-1¾) from Tennessee A&I will be the No. 2 U.S. jumper against Poland Saturday and Sunday, and he already is thinking big.

"Boy," he said today, "would I like to catch that world record holder against the wall and beat him."

POLISH STAR

Boston was thinking about Jozef Schmidt of Poland, who holds the world hop, step and jump mark of 55 feet, 10¼ inches.

Boston will replace Bill Sharpe, who was sent home to Philadelphia Monday because of a bad leg.

Schmidt, who has had an apprendectomy recently, as of late has been getting beaten regularly by his teammate, Ryszard Malcherczyk, who has a 53-11¼ to his credit.

If Schmidt doesn't improve, Boston may have to worry more about Malcherczyk.

Eagles Plan 2nd Full Scrimmage

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles planned their second full scrimmage today in Hershey Stadium in preparation for their meeting with the College All-Stars in Chicago next week.

Meanwhile, assistant coach Lauri Niemi and club official Steve Van Buren left for Rensselaer, Ind., to scout a scrimmage between the Chicago Bears and the collegians.

2 Inmates Escape From Rockview

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP)—Two inmates at the Rockview State Correctional Institution escaped today. State police immediately set up road blocks in the area.

The escapees were identified as Merle Fleming, 25, serving two to five years for a forgery conviction in Westmoreland County, and Robert N. Frankhouser, 26, serving two to 10 years, for a Mifflin County burglary conviction.

Officials said the two were with a detail working at the prison sawmill when they fled.

Berwick Cabs Will Hike Fare Sunday

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Club Cab Co. of Berwick is to begin a new passenger-mileage rate system, which is expected to raise fares by about $1,700 a year, on Sunday.

The Public Utility Commission authorized Tuesday the switch from the zone, cabload and flat rate system of charges that has been in effect since 1943.

In Berwick, one or two passengers will have to pay 50 cents the first mile and 10 cents for each additional one-fifth mile. Each additional passenger will be charged 25 cents.

On rides beyond Berwick, it will cost 50 cents for the first two miles, regardless of the number of passengers, and 10 cents for each extra one-fourth mile.

JFK Doesn't Attend Cabinet Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Cabinet is holding meetings without President Kennedy who considers most formal Cabinet sessions a waste of time.

With Kennedy's approval, it was learned Tuesday, the Cabinet officers are meeting every second Wednesday at a different department. The Aug. 2 meeting will be at the Pentagon, and at the Treasury two weeks later.

Kennedy consults Cabinet members as individuals more than many recent presidents. But he prefers to call together only those directly concerned with the proble munder discussion.

RED'S BULLPEN BEST IN PROS

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have little to worry about when Jim Brosnan or Bill Henry is called in from the bullpen. They comprise the best one-two relief combination in major league baseball.

Brosnan, a right-hander, and Henry, a southpaw, have been largely responsible for 31 of the Reds' 59 victories (53 per cent). Brosnan has won five games and saved 14 while Henry has been credited with only one triumph, but has saved 11.

Brosnan leads the National League in games saved, figures compiled by the Associated Press through Monday's games showed today. Larry Sherry of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Elroy Face of Pittsburgh are next with 13 saves followed by Henry. Stu Miller of San Francisco and Don Elston of Chicago have saved eight apiece.

ARROYO HEADS AL

Luis Arroyo, the little New York Yankee lefty, heads the American League with 16 saves. Then come Hoyt Wilhelm ,Baltimore, 12 and Mike Fornieles of Boston and Dave Sisler, Washington, 9 each.

Terry Fox of Detroit has the best earned run average among the big league relievers, 1.66. Arroyo is at 1.85 followed by Turk Lown, Chicago White Sox 1.99, Don McMahon, Milwaukee 2.03 and Wilhelm, 2.17. Brosnan's ERA is 3.24 and Henry's 3.55. The figures include Monday's games.

RED TERRORISM FLARING ANEW

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Government forces launched major new cleanup drives north of Saigon where the killing of three top officials and blowing up of a bus marked a rising tide of Communist terrorism.

The government announced today that two national assemblymen had been killed—ambushed and kidnaped Monday in the central highlands. A district chief was killed in the same Communist attack.

Nine of 16 passengers aboard a bus were killed when it ran over a mine Tuesday about 30 miles northeast of Saigon in Binh Duong province. That is where the government opened the latest of its cleanup drives.

CROPS BETTER

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's corn and potato crops were better last week due to the hot, humid weather, the state crop reporting service said Tuesday in its weekly report.

Four-Homer Spectacular By Maris Helps Take Two From Chicago; Tigers Lose

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris' four-homer spectacular has convinced even the skeptics that Babe Ruth's 34-year-old home run record of 60 in a season is in grave danger.

The 26-year-old Yankee outfielder blasted two in each game of the Yanks' 5-1 and 12-0 trouncings of the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night that sent the New Yorkers soaring into first place, a half-game ahead of Detroit. The Tigers were beaten 5-4 in the ninth by the Angels' two-run counter rally at Los Angeles.

Maris drove in eight runs, three in the first game and five in the second, and now leads the major leagues in homers with 40 and runs batted in with 96. He is two homers in front of Mickey Mantle, who hit his 38th in the first game.

FIRST SINCE FOXX

Maris became the second slugger to reach the 40 mark in July and he did it in the Yanks' 96th game, including one tie contest. Jimmy Foxx did it first in 1932 and he also belted No. 40 in the Philadelphia Athletics' 96th game. Foxx fell two short of Ruth's record with 58.

The crewcut Yankee now is 24 games ahead of Ruth's record pace in 1927. The Bambino clouted his 49th in the Yanks' 120th game.

In the other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Boston Red Sox 5-1 on Steve Barber's four-hitter and vaulted to third place over Cleveland; the Kansas City A's nipped the Indians 3-2 with three runs in the eighth as Wayne Causey came home with the winning run on two wild pitches by reliever Bill Allen and the Washington Senators edged the Minnesota Twins 2-1 on Dick Donovan's five-hitter.

THEY HAD COMPANY

Maris and Mantle were joined in the home run cannonading by light-hitting Clete Boyer and Elston Howard. Boyer whacked two in the second game and drove in four runs. Howard, the top Yankee hitter at .363, also homered in the second game.

Behind that bambardment Whitey Ford 18-2 and Bill Stafford 9-4 coasted to victory. Ford had to quit in the seventh because of a headache and the heat. He was leading 4-0 at the time and Luis Arroyo cleaned up as usual. Stafford, out with a sore arm since July 13, shackled the White Sox with six hits.

The Tigers almost held onto first place when they took the spotlight hours later in Los Angeles. A three-run homer by Bill Bruton in the top of the ninth gave them a 4-3 edge. Then the pesky Angels fought back with two runs, capped by ex-Tiger Eddie Yost's game-winning single with two out. Ryne Duren (4-10), an ex-Yankee, got the win, and Detroit reliever Phil Regan (9-6) was charged with the loss.

Barber Hits HR, Loses No-Hitter

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steve Barber had lost his no-hitter and his shutout, so the Baltimore Orioles' pitcher was content to talk about his hitting prowess.

The 22-year-old southpaw belted a home run as he whipped the Boston Red Sox 5-1 Tuesday night.

He lost his no-hitter when Jackie Jensen singled with one out in the seventh. The shutout went by the boards in the eighth on three singles and a force play. "You'd better order some bats," teammate Hoyt Wilhelm chided as Barber rejoiced in the dressing room over his second homer of the year.

OPPOSE NEW PARKING PLAN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some 30 citizens told a noisy public hearing in City Hall Tuesday night that they considered unfair Mayor Richardson Dilworth's proposal to charge residents $40 a year to park in an experimental area in South Philadelphia.

The mayor has proposed building a lot with money from fees residents would pay to park in the lot or on the streets of the area. Parking is free now, but Dilworth has called the traffic in the area hazardous.

A crowd of 400 persons jeered and applauded as witnesses testified that the fee would cost some of the residents a week's salary, that it would drive businesses away, and that it would violate the state constitution by taxing only a par of he city.

Some 45 policemen were assigned to prevent a disturbance like the one Monday night when the mayor was stoned by a mob of 2,000 persons after he tried to explain the plan. There was no violence Tuesday night.

SOLONS ERASE HOUSE ACTION

HARRISBURG (AP)—Historians will never know that the House overruled Speaker H. G. Andrews last June 13.

The chamber Tuesday adopted a motion to expunge from the record the House's precedent-setting action of last month.

It all began when Andrews ruled that a motion to recommit a bill had been carried by a voice vote. This is normal procedure and rarely challenged.

But howls of protest accompanied the ruling. It was appealed by members in a fighting mood and on a roll call vote Andrews' decision was rescinded.

Andrews, 84-year-old veteran Democrat from Cambria County, was stung by the action. It was reported he was deeply hurt.

Tuesday, his friends introduced the motion to wipe out the earlier ruling. It was overwhelmingly adopted, 171-18.

SAPPORO, Japan (AP)—Eleven persons were dead or missing today following the heaviest rainfall in 29 years on the northernmost Japanese island of Hokkaido. Three of the missing were miners trapped in a coal pit that was flooded when the weight of a swollen river overhead collapsed the ceiling.

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Police have charged Robert L. Beecher Jr., 23, of Allentown, with assault with intent to kill. Authorities said he signed a statement in which he admitted dropping his 8-week-old son to the floor.

The child was reported in critical condition today in Allentown Hospital.

Beecher was placed in jail in default of $15,000 bail.

Shirley Bair, president, presided and there was a show and tell by Donna Schaefer and Jean and Jane Keefer. Beverly Updyke reported on the 4-H day camp held last Thursday at the South Mountain Fairgrounds, near Arendtsville. Mrs. Helen D. Tunison, Adams County home economics extension representative, was present and announced that a judging session will be held at Penn State August 14, 15 and 16, and a roundup will be held on August 18 at South Mountain.

Plans were discussed for the club picnic next Tuesday at Crouse's Pool, near town. The evening meal, to consist of a covered dish supper and wiener roast, will be enjoyed at 5 p.m. Rolls, wieners and beverage will be furnished. Members will take covered dish foods to share.

At the conclusion of the business the members were divided into two groups. The "learn by doing" group practiced table setting and flower arrangement. The other girls worked on their sewing projects. The leaders, Mrs. Wade H. Brown, Mrs. C. Aaron Rohrbaugh and Mrs. Emory C. Gitt, supervised.

Over 100 young people attended the block party held Monday night on the Super Thrift Market parking lot. Recordings of top tunes were provided for dancing by Dick's Record Shop, Hanover. Lester Schue was disc jockey. Refreshments were available throughout the evening. The parking lot was loaned through the courtesy of Super Thrift. Due to the rain earlier in the evening, the affair got a late start and, by request of the teen-agers, continued until 11 p.m. The party was sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Littlestown and the committee on arrangements included Mrs. Kent E. Daum, Mrs. William Grove, Mrs. Paul F. Boller Jr., Mrs. Jay Showvaker, Miss Janet Phillips and Miss Nancy Oaster.

The annual Plunkert family reunion will be held Sunday at LeGore's cottage, Pigeon Hills.

100 Years Ago This Week...in THE CIVIL WAR

(Events exactly 100 years ago this week that led to the Civil War—told in the language and style of today.)

"Boy Wonder" McClellan Takes Potomac Reins

Gen. McDowell Loses Command

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26 —Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan, the brashly competent, young and colorful hero of Western Virginia, arrived here today to take command of what's left of the Army of the Potomac.

He succeeds Brig. Gen. Irwin McDowell, target for most of the blame in last week's crushing defeat of Union forces at Bull Run.

* * *

McCLELLAN, at 34, assumes his new key position flushed with the success of campaigns at Philippi and Rich Mountains, in Western Virginia.

His rousing battlefield dispatches have breathed life into a North bogged in apathy and confusion.

President Lincoln has given McClellan and Chief of the Army Gen. Winfield Scott a clear, but tough, road for the immediate future.

After the Bull Run disaster, Mr. Lincoln outlined this program for the defense of the Union:

—An immediate blockade of Southern ports.

—Holding of Baltimore, which has been on a see-saw of loyalty between South and North.

—Early seizure of Manassas Junction, scene of the Bull Run rout, and establishment of an open rail line from Harper's Ferry, Va., to Manassas and Strasburg.

—Capture of Memphis by troops from Cairo, Ill., and of East Tennessee by troops moving out of Cincinnati.

But McClellan's most urgent duty, obviously, is the repair of the demoralized Army of the Potomac.

* * *

MANY of the troops at Bull Run simply went home after the defeat. Other units regrouped around Washington minus the equipment they had scattered to the winds in their chaotic retreat.

And the moral gangrene that can be fatal to any army—distrust by the men of their officers—has taken a firm grip on the forces that are now McClellan's.

In many cases, officers turned tail at Bull Run before their troops did.

GRANDSTAND experts, meanwhile were having a field day pinpointing the reasons for the Union's disgrace at Bull Run.

One thing became obvious—the North was outclassed, militarywise, by the South. Of the three division commanders of the Union army, only one had ever seen a battle. Of nine brigadiers, six had never been near combat. But the nine leading Confederate officers at Bull Run were all seasoned veterans of Mexican War action or of Indian fights.

Rep. Ely Freed By Confederates

RICHMOND, Va., July 29 — Release from Libby Prison of U. S. Rep. Alfred Ely was assured today by Confederate leaders.

Rep. Ely was seized during the battle of Bull Run, one of hundreds of civilians who went to the scene of combat to see what they were sure would be a Northern victory.

Since his incarceration here, Ely has sparked much curiosity. Libby guards have received several offers of $10 bribes from Richmond citizens who wanted to take a look at the captive congressman.

When seized, Ely carried a pair of dancing pumps—apparently in anticipation of a victory ball in this Southern capital.

STATE DRAFT CALLS DEPEND ON REQUESTS

HARRISBURG (AP)—President Kennedy's call for a step-up in draft calls because of the Berlin crisis will have a decided impact on Pennsylvania, the state director of selective service said today.

Just how big an impact it will be and when it will be felt depends upon moves in Washington in the coming weeks, Lt. Col. Henry Gross said. He explained:

"Generally speaking, you have a situation now where our August draft call is about 800. If the national selective service doubles its national call for that month, Pennsylvania would supply approximately 1,600 men and if the national call were tripled, our call would be tripled."

RAISING QUOTAS

In his nationally televised address to the nation Tuesday night, Kennedy said he was doubling or tripling draft calls to build up the country's military strength in the face of Soviet threats over Berlin.

Gross said he hasn't received any word as yet on when to start increasing calls or by how much.

Pennsylvania supplies about 7 per cent of the national call, he said, adding:

"We'll have to see what the Defense Department does. It will be their responsibility to transmit a request to national selective service. We won't get into the picture until after that."

World Briefs

SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean military government today announced the execution of three Communist agents convicted in 1958 by President Syngman Rhee's government.

Kim Chung-je, a former police officer, and two others were hanged on July 11, the Justice Ministry said.

The three were sentenced to death for spying for the North Korean Communist regime, but the executions were delayed by appeals.

LONDON (AP)—Defense Minister Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons today the cost of sending British troops to Kuwait from July 1 to date was about one million pounds ($2,800,000).

DAMASCUS (AP) — Mecca Radio announced that King Saud of Saudi Arabia signed a royal decree Tuesday setting up a supreme defense council with himself as chairman. The radio said the council held its first session today to draw up a new long-range defense policy for the Saudi army and plans to improve its armament and fighting strength.

TO HEAD AMA— Dr. George M. Fister, Ogden, Utah, urologist, was chosen president-elect of the American Medical Association at recent convention in New York.

Kennedy's Talk Boosts Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was sharply higher early this afternoon in response to President Kennedy's proposal for $3.45 billion in new military and home defense spending. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.40 at 244.40 with industrials up 2.30, rails up .70 and utilities up .20.

Key stocks held gains of fractions to a point or more but the general level was somewhat below its best of the morning.

The market got off to a lively start with aircraft-missiles, steels, motors and electronics strong. Several of the defense issues opened on sizable blocks.

HOUSE OKAYS DRUG BILLS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two pharmacy and drug bills, riddled by repeated amendments, were before the Senate today after winning House approval.

They were passed in the House Tuesday but observers wondered just how effective they will be.

Sponsors conceded the bills' effectiveness had been reduced, but they said the legislation was better than nothing.

The dangerous drug bill passed 152-43. The pharmacy measure was approved 117-76.

Among the principal provisions ripped from the bill were those to set up licensing of drug manufacturers and distributors and to restrict the sale of patent medicines by other than pharmacies.

The amendments take out all reference to restricted drugs and the bill as now written would regulate only the sale of narcotic and dangerous drugs.

Retained in the measure are restrictions against mislabeling, packaging and sale of contaminated drugs.

The pharmacy bill was amended to permit the sale of prescriptions by mail and allow druggists to give out trading stamps.

NEW YORK EGGS

NEW YORK (AP) — (USDA)—Wholesale egg offerings fully ample on whites and ample on balance. Demand generally quiet.

New York spot quotations:

Whites: Extras (47 lbs. min.) 39½-41; extras medium (40 lbs. average) 35-37; top quality (47 lbs. min.) 42-46; mediums (41 lbs. average) 35-37; smalls (36 lbs. average) 22-23; peewees 17-18.

Browns: Extras (47 lbs. min.) 40½-42; top quality (47 lbs. min.) 43-45; mediums (41 lbs. average) 38½-40½; smalls (36 lbs. average) 25-26; peewees 17-18.

STEEL HIT BY AUTO CRISIS

NEW YORK (AP)—The question mark hanging over automobile industry negotiations in Detroit has cast its shadow over the steel industry, Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly said a change in automakers' steel buying plans has cut into August orders, slowing the rate of improvement next month and setting back any sharp upturn in production into September.

Except for the auto situation, Iron Age said, the steel market looks strong with August orders expected to top those of July and possibly those of June.

The magazine adds that auto firms, traditionally one of steel's best customers, have not dropped out of the August picture. It explains that delivery promises in automotive centers have shortened while in other sections of the country some lengthening is noted for the orders-to-delivery period.

This means, Iron Age said, that some Midwest mills are producing more than they are shipping during the summer and tonnages available for shipment from inventory. This results from some producers' intention to provide nearly immediate delivery after demand strengthens and from the fact mills have kept production relatively level in spite of the usual summer slowdown of orders.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Three British soldiers captured inside Iraq near the Kuwait border Sunday will be tried by an Iraqi court-martial, Baghdad Radio said today.

There was no indication what the charges would be.

The three Britons were on patrol in an armored car along the poorly marked frontier.

The soliders told Iraqi newsmen they crossed the border by mistake.

FINDS WAY TO GET GIFT BOOKS TO AFRICANS

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (AP)—It took her seven month, but Judy has found a way to deliver six tons of books to Africa.

In May, 1960, Judy, then a junior at Canoga Park High School, saw an appeal to send books to Africa. She enlisted a group of her journalism classmates, and became chairman of the school's books for Africa drive.

The drive started in a small way—a few books here, a few there. A Los Angeles bookstore went out of business and donated 300 volumes. Then Judy found a way to get books rejected by the Los Angeles City Library.

BOOKS PILED HIGH

Clubs heard of the drive, and the books piled higher in a bungalow on the school campus. Judy decided to see about getting them to Africa.

"I started writing letters in December," she said. "I kept writing them and writing them and writing them.

"The books just kept coming in and coming in.

"We kept trying for transportation. We didn't know what to do."

WROTE KENNEDY

She wrote President Kennedy. His reply said to try the U. S. Information Agency.

The USIA liked the idea, but wanted new books, Judy said.

G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, said he was enthusiastic.

"He told us to let him know and he'd see what he could do," she said. "I'm sort of mad about that, because I wrote four times, even registered one letter, and never heard from him."

NAVY HELPS

Then the Navy said it could ship the books from Norfolk, Va., to one of several African ports through its "Operation Handclasp."

Getting them to Virginia remained a problem until last weekend, when a large organization said it would send them across the country.

Local civic groups and the paper for which she works, the Woodland Hills Democrat, have started fund drives to pay the $500 freight to get the 20,000 volumes from the African port to their destinations—Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Icebergs Cut Overseas Cable

OTTAWA (AP)—Icebergs bulldozing through Davis Strait have several times cut the undersea cable carrying vital radar information from Thule, Greenland, to the North American Air Defense Command, authoritative sources here have disclosed.

Thule is the site of one of the Ballistic Missile Early Warning radars and would provide some 15 minutes' warning of an intercontinental missile attack on North America.

As imporatnt as the radar itself is the means to relay the information it gathers to headquarters of North American Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo.

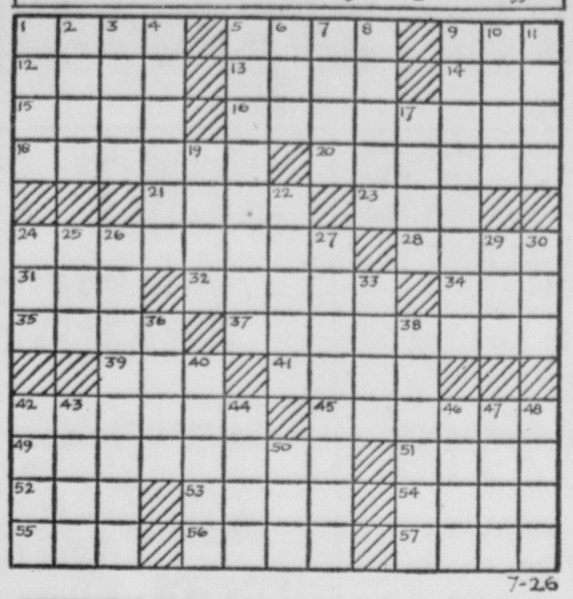

It is not known whether the difficulty posed by cable cuts caused by icebergs has been finally overcome. Northern experts were sent to find a deeper channel for the submarine cable.

Kennedy Takes Measures To Marshal U.S. Power To Meet Soviet Threats

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, marshaling America's might against the Soviet threat to Berlin, asks Congress today to boost military spending $3.5 billion and call up 217,000 reserve fighting men. He is ordering draft calls doubled or tripled.

Under a limited mobilization program calling for no immediate tax increases, Kennedy is boosting draft calls so that 24,000 young men a month may soon be going into uniform. The July call was for 8,000 men.

In a no surrender speech Tuesday night on the Berlin crisis and the worldwide Communist threat, the Presiednt laid out his six-point program of military preparation and told the nation in grim words intended also for Soviet Premier Khrushchev:

HAVE FOUGHT BEFORE

"We do not want to fight—but we have fought before."

He pledged to take the initiative in seeking a peaceful solution through negotiation with the Soviet Union but ruled out any solution which would yield West Berlin to Communist demands.

"We seek peace," he said, "but we shall not surrender."

PERMANENT BOOST

Kennedy made clear that the military reinforcements he wants are not to meet the Berlin crisis alone but have been designed through long weeks of planning to give the United States a permanent boost in strength "to meet a world-wide threat, on a basis which stretches far beyond the present Berlin crisis."

He called on the NATO Allies to step up their own military preparation toward the 30-division goal which NATO set several years ago for combat-ready defense forces in Western Europe. While he did not mention specific figures he said that nothing less than fulfillment of the agreed level of strength will suffice. He indicated that the United States is ready to put greater resources into Europe's defenses.

The President told the nation his six-point program will require sacrifice, courage and perseverance.

NO TAX INCREASE

Kennedy said the measures will not immediately require any increase in taxes though they mean an officially estimated budget deficit of more than $5 billion. But he declared bluntly that if tax increases are needed to achieve a balanced budget next January, "those increased taxes will be requested."

The six steps Kennedy announced in his address from the White House are these:

1. A request to Congress for an additional appropriation of $3,247,000,000 for the military forces, plus a request of 207 million in new funds for Civil Defense.

ARMY INCREASE

2. A request for an increase of about 125,000 men in the Army's total authorized strength, which presently stands at 875,000, to bring the new level up to a million men.

3. A request for an increase of 29,000 in the active-duty strength of the Navy and 63,000 in the active-duty strength of the Air Force.

4. An immediate order, which is within the President's present authority, that draft calls "be doubled and tripled in the coming months," plus a request from Congress for authority to call up various ready reserve units and individual reservists. Given such authority, Kennedy said he plans to order a number of air transport squadrons and Air National Guard tactical squadrons to active duty in order to increase U.S. airlift capacity. He said other reserve forces will be called up if needed.

SHIPS AND PLANES

5. Retention and reactivation of "many ships and planes" which have been retired from active service or were due for retirement. Kennedy said specifically he would delay retirement of B47 bombers in order to strengthen U.S. strategic airpower.

6. Procurement of nonnuclear weapons, ammunition and equipment at a level which will take about $1.8 billion, or a little more than half of the $3,247,000,000 requested new military money.

Kennedy said he had heard the argument that West Berlin, surrounded by Soviet troops and close to Soviet supply lines, was "militarily untenable."

BRAVE MEN

"So was Bastogne. So, in fact, was Stalingrad. Any dangerous spot is tenable if brave men will make it so," Kennedy said.

The President delivered his speech seated behind his desk in his White House office. His manner was intense and somber throughout. He never smiled.

Because of added personal remarks at the end, which he spoke with extra emphasis, he ran nearly two minutes overtime on his half-hour talk.

Congress gave enthusiastic support to Kennedy's warning to the Kremlin. Both Republicans and Democrats signaled solid support for his request for new defense spending.

DELAYS FACE BACKFILL BILL WITH HALUSKA

By HERB LINNEN

HARRISBURG (AP)—A bill to stiffen state requirements on the strip mine backfilling appeared today to be heading toward further delay in the Senate.

A Senate source, who declined to be identified, said Sen. John J. Haluska intends to take his Local Government Committee on the road to inspect areas where there are strip mines.

The tour is slated for next week after the Senate winds up a two-day session Tuesday, the source said. That would eliminate the possibility of committee action on the controversial legislation until at least the second week in August.

MAKE TOUR

The decision to make the tour, it was learned, came at a sometimes stormy closed-door committee meeting Tuesday.

The source said Haluska suggested the on-the-spot inspection. And, he added, members went along only after the Cambria County Democrat promised to submit the strip mine bills to a committee vote after the inspection.

Asked about his plans Tuesday, Haluska would say only that "progress is being made" in considering the legislation.

"I think the Mines Department might give a little . . . I think we are moving ahead," he told a newsman. "I'm for doing what's right and fair."

Eddie Cantor Is Given Tribute

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Stage and screen friends of Eddie Cantor paid tribute Tuesday night to the comedian's 50 years in show business.

But one guest couldn't make it—Cantor.

His wife, Ida, said the veteran showman was confined to his home with a virus infection.

The "Eddie Cantor Golden Jubilee Salute," staged at the Ambassador Hotel, was arranged by singer Eddie Fisher and a committee of industrialists and show business figures that included Jack Benny and George Jessel.

Find Rare Book Of Ben Franklin

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Public Library reports it has found a rare book—a copy of Benjamin Franklin's "Experiments and Observations on Electricity" which Librarian Milton E. Lord said apparently was owned by the author.

Lord said the book has marginal notes which probably are in Franklin's handwriting.

The book, which turned up in the library's rare book section, was donated to the library in 1873.

DECIDE ON $2,500

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposed $2,500 appropriation to the Paoli Memorial Association is ready for a House vote.

It was sent to the floor Tuesday by the Appropriations Committee.

The money would be used for improving the Chester County City parade ground and erecting a wall around a Revolutionary War Cemetery.

May Be Showdown Monday On Trucks

HARRISBURG (AP) — A showdown could come next Monday on the controversial bill to boost the state limit on truck trailers from 35 to 40 feet.

The House-passed legislation is certain to be on the Senate calendar then, Majority Leader Charles R. Weiner, D-Philadelphia, said on Tuesday.

He denied that Democrats were stalling on the bill which stirred up a bitter hassle in the House before it was adopted July 18.

SPIRAL DESIGN MARKS HEIM'S FASHION SHOW

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP) — Good-looking clothes that flatter the figure with a pure princess line were shown in Jacques Heim's "spiral" collection today.

The only things unwearable in the whole show were some of the colors—sallow sepias and greeny browns. More agreeable were warm browns, mid-gray, off-white, mustard gold, orangy tones and black.

The designer thinks the most special things in his collection are two-in-one coat dresses, mostly spiral wrapped. Those, as well as most dresses and suits, mold the figure to the bottom of the hip and then flare flatteringly to a hemline which has dropped by an inch to cover the knees.

UNUSUAL EFFECT

There are also dresses that look like suits and back-opening coats and jackets that appear to be worn backward. Taken on the whole, things are not what they seem in the fashion picture this season.

Capes and cape effects drop in a point behind in the Heim collection. Here again are necklines with scarf extensions draped around the shoulders. But in spite of its twisty name, the Heim show is generally clean-lined and simple.

Jackets are short or medium in length. Fur collars are modestly small. Cocktail and dinner sheaths mold everything but the waist, with a few high-waisted empire numbers thrown in.

FLECKED TWEEDS

There are flecked tweeds, textured wool coats, silk crepe dresses, velvets and pale gold to coppery and cut steel lames. Dark glitter comes with jet and iridescent trimmings.

An Indian war bonnet hat comes in green-black cock feathers. There are also battered halos and unicorn hats pointing off the one side.

At least one cocktail sheath has a mink-banded hemline. A black oilskin suit with white looped wool collar and beret could brave all weathers, and a black crinkled Orlon dress successfully impersonates grained leather. There is also a suede cape coat. Basket-weave self material in border bands is frequently used as trim.

Bobble-ended chain necklaces are worn backward to fill in bare backs. A sequined tweed beret dresses up a tweed outfit.

MINE CAVE-IN INSURANCE IS SET FOR O.K.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Only Gov. Lawrence's signature is needed to pave the way for a state-supported mine cave-in insurance program starting in 1962-63.

The Senate Tuesday approved a House-passed bill that would enable home owners to insure their properties against damage from subsidences in the anthracite and bituminous areas. The vote was 36-11.

Lawrence was expected to give the measure his endorsement. In the first year of operation, the program would be financed by a $1 million appropriation in the legislation. Administration leaders decided it would be impossible to provide for the cost of the program in the current fiscal year.

CAN INSURE HOME

The legislation would permit a private home owner in the coal regions to insure his home with the state against cave-in damage. Sponsors pointed out that in many instances these people find it impossible to take out insurance on their properties now.

Backers envision the plan as a self-supporting low premium program. The actual mechanics of the program, if it is enacted, would be set up by a special board.

Senate Maority Leader Charles R. Weiner, D-Philadelphia, succeeded in heading off a Republican attempt to postpone action on the measure when it came up for action. The House passed it last June 12.

Sen. Hugh J. McMenamin, D-Lackawanna, hailed approval of the legislation as a hard-fought victory for legislators from the coal regions who have been trying futilely to get such a law on the books for years.

Two Allegheny County Democrats—Joseph D. Ripp and George Sarraf—voted with nine Republicans against the bill. They expressed reservations about the state getting into the insurance business.

Boy Drowns In Dog Rescue Try

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two boys drowned in the Pittsburgh district last night, one in an attempt to save his pet dog.

Police said William Sweeney, 18, of Pittsburgh, was fishing in the Allegheny River when his dog, a beagle pup, fell or jumped from a wall into the water. They said Sweeney leaped in after his pet and did not reappear.

The other youth, John Bodnar, 11, of McKeesport, lost his life while swimming in the Monongahela River.

EATONTOWN, N. J. (AP) — Seeing double is confusing enough, but customers at a Monmouth Shopping Center lunch counter see triple when the look-alike Moffett sisters are on the job.

Twins Lorraine and Loretta, 19, and sister, Lois, 18, all work as waitresses. They also dress alike and share everything except boy friends. "We like to go out on triple dates, but sharing boy friends is certainly not a family tradition," they say.

Customers often order from one sister, pay another and tip the third.

Many good cooks like to precook frozen lobster tails in salted water for about five minutes before broiling; but simmer, don't boil the lobster tails.

Buying a
USED CAR?
Timely Tips That Can Help Protect Your Investment!

1. Choose your dealer carefully.
2. Buy only from a well established reputable dealer.
3. Buy only from a dealer who maintains his own adequate facilities to service the car you buy.
4. Insist on a WARRANTY in writing that can be "backed-up."
5. BUYING from a NEW CAR DEALER IS YOUR BEST BET . . . Most new car dealers sell locally owned trade-ins, not Used Cars obtained from Auto Auctions or distress merchandise from large cities.
6. Insist on knowing where the Used Car came from. "Ask who was the previous owner." Most new car dealers will be happy to tell you and invite you to contact the previous owner.
7. New Cars bought from Used Car Dealers . . . REMEMBER, only the New Car Dealer is authorized to extend a FACTORY WARRANTY to a buyer, NO ONE ELSE.

Reapportionment Issue In Limelight Again At Capitol

HARRISBURG (AP) — House attention focused again today on the touchiest political issue facing the 1961 legislature-congressional reapportionment.

The Democratic representatives looked for introduction of a bill following meetings Tuesday between Gov. Lawrence, Otis Morse, Democratic state chairman, Major Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh and other officials.

A Democratic source said U. S. Rep. William Green, Philadelphia Democratic chairman, had gotten a firm commitment from U. S. House Speaker Sam Rayburn on whether proposed federal legislation to boost the size of Congress would be put through.

NO INCREASE LIKELY

On such a move depended posment plans. An increase in Congress would mean Pennsylvania would lose only two instead of three of its 30 seats.

Indications were that Congress would maintain its present size.

Meanwhile, the Republicans awaited word on another prime issue facing the General Assemfor the upcoming school year.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House Republican floor leader, said the GOP representatives feel Democrats have met the terms requested by the Republican caucus last week—write the education plan into legislation and peg its cost.

TO SOUND SENTIMENT

"We'll be out for 10 days or so when we adjourn this week," said Johnson. "That should give our membership time enough to sound out grass roots sentiment on the proposals. When we come back we'll have a good cross section of sentiment."

A joint House-Senate select committee on education Tuesday sent to the floor a $25.1 million spending program, including $18.6 million in increased teacher salary subsidies.

The committee also put forth a two per cent tax bill that would impose the levy on certain forms rents, royalties, profits from sale of property and interest.

MAY REMOVE INTEREST

Amendments were prepared to remove interest from the measure. Without interest included in the income categories, the bill would produce $25.6 million—more than enough to finance the improvements.

The Senate adjourned Tuesday until Monday. The House will not meet next week because of a hotel room shortage.

In other legislative development Tuesday:

Insurance—The Senate approved 36-11 a measure putting the state in the insurance business covering certain risks.

The bill would allow the state to underwrite insurance on homes in mine subsidence areas in the anthracite and bituminous regions.

The House-passed measure now goes to Gov. Lawrence for action.

Population—A bill allowing for a slow reduction in classification of counties losing population was approved by the Senate, 46-4. It went to the House.

The measure would provide that a county would keep its current classification until two consecutive censuses record a population requiring a lower classification.

It was designed for the coal region counties which have lost population between the 1950 and 1960 censuses. The problem in such areas is that the salary limits of county officials are restricted by law according to the classification of the county. The lower the classification, the lower the salary limits. A sudden change of classification, backers of the bill contended, would work a hardship on hundreds of county officials and workers.

Wage Tax—On a 122-73 vote the House approved an additional one half of one per cent wage tax in Pittsburgh for school purposes. The city already has a one per cent wage tax for city purposes. At the same time a companion bill was approved, 190-8, eliminating a $5 head tax. The next tax increase would be $3.8 mlilion. The measure went to the Senate.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A fall from a 40-foot ladder Tuesday proved fatal to Fred Rixey, 35, of Pittsburgh.

WEST BERLIN PLEASED WITH JFK'S ADDRESS

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—President Kennedy's speech was warmly welcomed today in threatened West Berlin and throughout Western Europe.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, declared in Bonn he was "happy that the United States has resolutely taken over the leadership of the West."

West Berlin morning newspapers remade their late editions to carry long excerpts from the address. A typical headline was the Morgenpost's "Kennedy prepared to do everything for Berlin's freedom."

The speech came too late for editorial reaction in most European capitals, but the liberal Le Matin of Antwerp, Belgium, commented:

LEAD WESTERN WORLD

"This speech means above all that the United States wants to fully assume its duties as leader of the Western world. Kennedy clearly expressed the American determination to take the diplomatic initiative back from the U.S.S.R."

First Communist reaction was bitter. The official East German news agency, ADN, asserted that Kennedy deliberately distorted Soviet proposals for relieving the Berlin tension.

"He also failed totally to mention the danger to the peace of Europe posed by West German militarism," ADN said.

In Rome, both the official Communist organ L'Unita and the Red-leaning Il Paese described the speech as "threatening and bellicose."

RED RADIO SILENT

As usual, Moscow radio and the Soviet news agency Tass were silent.

Vienna's independent Kurier headlined the quotation "An attack on Berlin is an attack on us all," and the independent Kronenzeitung said "President Kennedy calls for extreme toughness."

London's Conservative Daily Sketch said Kennedy "gave Mr. Khrushchev a grim warning last night in the toughest speech since he became President."

In Amsterdam, the Liberal De Telegraf carried the headline "United States not too soft to fight" and the Catholic Volkskrant said "Kennedy strengthening forces, willing to talk but also to fight."

The Communist East German radio singled out Kennedy's statement that the West is willing to negotiate over Berlin as a point of difference between Washington and "the extremists in Bonn."

America's allies in Asia were favorably impressed by the speech.

6-Foot Businesswoman May Net $1 Million In Four Years

M. A. RAISER
The Associated Press

Dolly Dahle is a 6-foot businesswoman who wants to achieve a million dollar gross income within four years.

"I would like to be eligible to join the Young Presidents Club, whose members have to gross a million dollars a year through their own efforts — before they are 40."

Chances are that Dolly Dahle (pronounced Dale), a green-eyed, blonde former showgirl, might make it — if the space race goes on.

She's president of a Los Angeles publishing company that now does more than $250,000 business annually. The firm produces manuals, government contract proposals, highly classified reports. It turns out technical typing and reproduction by mimeo or other means, or prepares copy for the printer. Much of work requires special technical skills, and clients include the country's top aircraft corporations.

Business soared after the Russians sent up Sputnik I.

ADVISED WORK FOR SELF

Colly was born in 1925 at Erie, Pa., lived in an orphanage during the depression, later studied nights and worked days in a Detroit auto fatory. She once was a show girl for Billy Rose.

After an unsuccessful marriage, she got employment in the publications field in California.

Her mother, Mrs. Helen Bauer, now secretary of Dolly's company, offered sage advice.

"She always told me that the only way to make money is to be in business for yourself," Dolly says.

"I decided that my main goal was to have money, which I had lacked all my life, and the only way to have it was to make it myself."

HAD $600 LOAN

In 1955 Dolly boldly set up her own typing business with a $600 loan. She had a typewriter, a desk, a telephone — "and me."

"I called up everyone I had worked with and said 'Here I am. Give me your business.' They laughed. I grossed $1,200 the first year and netted $18.

"I found that being a woman can be a detriment rather than a help in selling.

"For example, one person thought I was trying to sell sex. But since then my company has become his sole vendor for reproduction typing."

She says her company (Publishing Production Service, Inc.) has 15 special typewriters worth $12,000, or $800 each, 40 employes, and many highly skilled temporary workers for emergency jobs.

"Most of the girls I hire are Japanese," she says. "They seem to be very well suited because their work is so exacting and neat.

TREASURE THE JAPS

"I really treasure my little Japanese. They are able to go to college by working for me. They also are willing to work around the clock."

Dolly's company has a piece work system.

"I once set a production schedule of 20 pages of typing in an 8-hour day. Then I became worried that I might have expected too much from the girls. So I went to work at a typewriter and turned out 44 pages in 10 hours."

HAS SUNKEN TUB

Dolly lives high on a hill at Silver Lake in east Hollywood.

"My Roman-style house has a single bedroom and no wall between the kitchen and living room. I have sort of terraazzo floors and a view of the whole city. And a beautiful sunken bath tub."

Romance?

"Some day I may marry again," she says, blushing slightly. "But I have no prospects at present."

Her exact height?

"I'm really not 6 feet tall. I'm exactly 5 feet, 11 and 15-16th inches. I was too short to become a member of the Tip Toppers, who refused to waive that 16th of an inch."

HAS WEIGHT PROBLEM TOO

Her shoes are size 11½ and she wears long spiked heels, despite her height.

"I have a weight problem. I'm 160 pounds. Normal for my height is 158.

"I do five minutes of exercises — ups and downs — each morning. I have to watch my waistline, which is 28 inches."

Other measurements were not volunteered.

All Star Pitcher Has Fake Foot

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The pitcher for the San Diego All-Stars softball team is 47 years old and has one artificial foot.

"I can't throw as hard as I once did, but that's age, not the foot," says Chet Jordan, who started as a softball pitcher when he was 16 and has been with championship teams in Oklahoma and Florida (in the late 30s) and in California.

He lost his left foot in an industrial accident and thought he was done, but in April he was urged to take the mound for the Rohr Aircraft Team when the regular pitcher failed to show. He allowed only one hit and didn't give up a run. After that he was the regular pitcher.

"I can still do a lot of things with a ball, for an old guy," he says.

Police Instructed In Phone Manners

TONAWANDA, N. Y. (AP) — "City of Tonawanda police, Lt. Smith. May I help you?"

This is the friendly greeting everyone receives when they call police headquarters here, sinc Chief James G. Oldenburg had a service consultant instruct his men in good telephone manners.

"I think it's important," the chief explains. "A modern-day police outfit does a lot of business by phone. And the public is entitled to courtesy."

Gettysburg Youngster Has "Eye Opening" Journey In Czechoslovakia, Poland

Thirteen-year-old Miss Susan Swope's account of her "eye-opening journey into another world" merits the attention of Times readers. Susan, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Donald McC. Swope, W. Broadway, is touring Europe with her father and mother. The following letter, with some changes made to obscure references that might be harmful, was written to her friend, Miss Carolyn Musselman, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Musselman, 32 E. Broadway.

"Dear Carolyn: Hope you got the postcard from behind the Iron Curtain. Our tour into Czechoslovakia and Poland was most interesting. We had heard of the Iron Curtain, but we didn't expect to see it. When we drove into Czechoslovakia, it took a whole hour to go through customs. The soldiers were all armed and there were lookout towers and barbed wire all along the border. On their hats the soldiers had red stars in the front.

STREETS ARE EMPTY

"We drove through the countryside, and at first the sights were grim, but so different from anything our modern civilization has known. We got some wonderful photos of Czechoslovakia and Poland. We got women pitching hay in the fields. All women who lived in the farmland worked in the fields alongside the men. There was hardly any machinery. It was the height of the hay season, and the hay was piled overflowing onto wagons and drawn by horses.

"We got into Prague at dusk. It did not look like a beautiful European city. All the buildings were black and on the outskirts of the city there were some parks which could have been beautiful. But they weren't, mainly because the 'state' didn't want to waste the manpower on the lawns. All the grass was up to one's knees. There was no traffic on the streets, except for a tram now and then, and nobody was on the streets. It had been the same way in the little villages we had passed through. They all seemed like ghost towns.

DIRTY, SMELLY ROOMS

"When we drove up to our hotel, which, by the way, was very reassuring, like magic, people appeared. It must have been the western make of the car. We rented a German Ford, an Opel, in Vienna, and we soon discovered we weren't the objects of curiosity. They examined the license, bounceed the cacr, discussed it, studied it.

"There weren't any porters for the hotel, and it was dark and gloomy looking. We dragged our suitcases up to dirty, smelly rooms. Only the sheets were clean. We ate in the hotel dining room which was pitiful. The tablecloths hadn't been changed for probably a month. We had soup to start with, and it resembled dishwater. They poured it from tin cups into the bowls. Of course, there wasn't any silverware. We ate with tin tools.

"The only stuff they had for kids to drink was a syrupy, watery, sweet mess called 'limonade.' Oh, how sick I got of it! Other than that the meal was surprisingly good, although the surroundings were far from quaint. And that was the first day behind the iron curtain.

WOULDN'T DRINK COFFEE

"When we woke up we had no idea what we would do with ourselves all day. We ate breakfast in the hotel. Luckily I had sense enough to order coccoa. But Mom ordered coffee. She got a combination—half mud, half coffee grounds. The mud had settled on the bottom, the grounds floated on the top. Mom refused to drink it.

"Then when we went ou to the car and an old man started to speak German to Dad. He was collecting stamps. He could never get any from the U. S. or any other part of the West. We were very sorry we had none to offer him.

"All along we met many people who had relatives in the states. Most of them seemed to be the least likely. Peasants who lived way out in the middle of nowhere had relatives in Ohio, Indiana, California, New York and Chicago.

PEDESTRIANS GALORE

"We turned down a broad, tree-lined avenue and got a quite different impression from the night before. The oppression of communism still hung heavily in the atmosphere, but the town seemed much more alive. One odd thing which struck us was the trees. They looked dusty and dirty. And there was still no traffic but teams and a few cars. But pedestrians! Thousands and thousands rushed everywhere. They crossed the street anywhere they wanted and walked shoulder to shoulder ten abreast down the sidewalks. Finally we stopped. Again they crowded around the car.

"Mom and Dad went into Cedok, the official Czeck travel agency. They arranged for a private four-hour tour with an English speaking guide. Then we went for lunch. Lunch was good but again we had that awful 'limonade.' At two o'clock we got our guide. She was wonderful. She loved her city of Praha. She showed us everything there was to see, and that in itself got a bit tiring.

RED FLAG EVERYWHERE

"We left our guide and drove through Prague. Everywhere the yellow hammer and sickle in the center of a big, shiny red star guarded the city. The sign could be seen on roads, factories, schools and shops.

"The next day we awoke and all had cocoa for breakfast. We set out on a 350-mile journey into Poland. Again we saw women pitching hay in the fields. We stopped to take their pictures. The same look of awe lit their eyes when they learned we were Americans. They were very obliging and didn't seem to care a bit about wasting the 'state's' time.

"The scenery was very picturesque but the roads were winding and it was hard to make much time. We stopped for gas. All the gas is the same government make and stations are located about 100 miles apart. We got to the border at dusk with still 100 miles to go.

"One excellent thing about Czechoslovakia and Poland was expense. We couldn't make it to Krakow, Poland, so we stayed in a Polish border town. The hotel bill for two rooms and five American sized breakfasts was five dollars only! And the hotel was very nice too.

THRONGS OF TOURISTS

"We went to Auschwitz on our way to Krakow. There were throngs of tourists there and it has become a sort of national shrine. Poland is so much less Communist than Czechoslavakia. Karl Marx once said that 'Religion is the opium of the people.' In a Communist country this is believed to be true. Then in Poland almost everyone is addicted to the narcotic.

"We went to various places in Krakow. It was Sunday and everyone was out for a stroll. After dinner, with silverware instead of tinware, we ended our fourth day of an eye-opening journey into another world.

"We got up at six-thirty so that we would leave no later than 9 o'clock. However, this was not what the 'state' had in mind for us. In a Communist state, the evil of profitmaking has been overcome. At breakfast we waited half-an-hour for the bill. We wouldn't have gotten it then if we hadn't asked three times.

REGISTER WITH POLICE

"The reason for this was that the waiter didn't care. He gets paid anyway. It's not more or less according to the quality of his service. Then we just waited as long for the hotel bill.

"Next we went to police station to register for leaving the country. The hotel clerks assured us this would take five minutes at the most. We spent an hour there. We finally left Krakow at 12:30. We went to a magnificent half-ruined castle along the Dunajic River. It stood on a high cliff and was once on the border of Hungary and Czechoslavakia.

"We went to Zakopane which is a village in the mountains known as the High Tatras, in the Carpathian range. I suppose that no American ever had an idea that such beauty existed behind the Iron Curtain. I know I never did. Many of the mountains around there are higher than Mt. Washington. We took a funicular up a high hill where we got a beautiful vista of the mountains and the village below.

TAKE RIDE ON RAFT

"The next morning we tried to get an early start again. But we met an American couple who wanted to go along. We had to wait till they had their breakfast. When we finally left town it was 11 o'clock. We went to a spot on the Dunajic River where we took a raft ride down the beautiful gorge of the Dunajic River. At first the ride was magnificent but after an hour got a bit boring. There were two men who poled our raft. On one side of the gorge was Czechoslovakia and on the other was Poland.

"The ride was soon adventurous enough. It drizzled. It sprinkled. It rained. It poured. It stormed. And that was the breaking point. We had to ground the raft. Fourteen people huddled in a little cut in the side of a cliff. It was really a funny sight. We stayed there for half an hour. Finally it was just sprinkling again. We finished the trip shivering. That was our way of celebrating the Fourth of July.

MAKE GOOD BARGAIN

"Before we left Zakopane we had quite an experience. Mom and Dad wanted to get three beautifully carved and painted wooden plates. However, at the official rate of exchange, which is far from the fair rate, you get only 24 zilotes to the dollar. This made them far too expensive. We had been told that if you used your head you could get 84 zilotes for a dollar. They went into the crowded store and asked the sales clerk if she should take the American money. She said 'no' but her eyes said 'yes.' Then a man pushed on Dad and held out a lot of dirty zilotes. Mom and Dad thought this was their 'contact' so Dad went into the street to bargain with him. Immediately a salesclerk wrote something on the receipt and handed it to Mom. It said 'politze.' Mom got out as fast as she could and whispered to Dad, 'police, police.' The other man ran away and we never knew who he was. Perhaps he just wanted to bargain, or he may have been a policeman. Maybe the salesclerk wanted the trade herself. But Mom was brave enough to go back and get the plates at 70-1.

SEE FREE CITY

"We had a beautiful drive into Czechoslovakia but again customs took an hour and a half. We passed several ruins of castles which shone in all their splendor dominating the surrounding countryside.

"The last day I got so sick of 'limonade' that I vowed the first thing I'd do when I got to Vienna was have a Coke. And I did. In fact I had three in succession. In entering Czechoslovakia we had to go through 2½ hours of Czech customs. At the Czech border, there were four high rows of electrified barbed wire. When we got to Vienna, we had the most wonderful feeling. It was marvelous to see a free, gay, illuminated city.

"Some of the people talked about communism and what the people think of it. Before 1948 Czechoslovakia was a republic and the ownership of private property was encouraged. Now everything is communized. All the farms are collective farms and a once successful private farmer is a trodden-down man indeed. The son of a man who was once a factory or shop owner has no chance of admittance to any university. The people are fed propaganda, but our share of stock in their respect is still high. Anyone who learned we are Americans nearly fell over with envy. When we ate in a crowded cafe we were told in a whisper that communism has done a lot for the country but now it is time for reform.

"We were also told that it is plain where the sympathies of the Polish people lie. When Nixon came to Warsaw, the government told no one of the trip in advance. But somehow the word leaked out and thousands of people just happened to line the streets of Warsaw that day. They cheered and strewed flowers in his path. Even after that the government didn't tell the rest of the country about the wonderful reception. The Communists were furious and allowed nothing to be printed in the papers."

Commies Tighten Controls To Stop Fleeing Refugees

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—A Western official said that tightened control by Communist police has succeeded in cutting down the flow of refugees into West Berlin.

"More people are trying to come now," he said, "but fewer are getting through. It used to be that one was stopped by every two that made it, but now it's nearer one-for-one."

Other sources, however, minimized the role of police controls in checking the refugee flow. They pointed out that many who planned to flee after school ended July 8 have probably made it by now. A large number of young people are among the refugees.

2,575 OVER WEEKEND

The official, who watches the refugee flow carefully for a Western mission in Berlin, said the numbers arriving are still somewhat above normal even for this peak vacation period.

Over the weekend—Saturday afternoon to Monday afternoon — the arrivals numbered 2,575, but it was nearly 3,000 the weekend before.

The Western official said Communist police seem to be doing everything shore of actually stopping trains to check the stream.

Their difficulty is compounded by the fact that Berlin is a main rail transfer point for East Germany and would-be refugees can by tickets within the country, then flee when they reach there.

HARD TO CHECK

Hundreds of subway and elevated trains go from East Berlin to West Germany everyday, and it is virtually impossible to check every passenger on each one.

In addition to troubles with the youth, the Reds are also having difficulties with farmers who insist they want to get out of collectives.

Neues Deutschland, the official daily of the East German regime, told today of a meeting at Bruesenhagen, northwest of Berlin, where Communist orators tried in vain to get the farmers' consent to stay.

The Communists tried to convince them that in West Germany farmers are losing their land to rocket bases and military airfields. The farmers admitted they do not want this to happen to them, "but they would not take back their withdrawal applications," Neues Deutschland said.

COURAGE TO FIGHT

East German farm land was collectivized in the spring of 1960. In theory, any farmer can withdraw. In practice it takes great courage to buck official Communist policy. There have been persistent reports of farmers trying to withdraw—but none that they have actually been permitted to do so.

Western experts blame collectivization for many of the supply difficulties in East Germany that have been helping increase the flow of refugees to the West. Farmers were promised an eight-hour day, and many of them are taking the promise seriously—even at peak work periods when they are traditionally in the fields from dawn to dusk.

Will Hold African Drama Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — A contest for plays about Africa is being sponsored as "a step toward international understanding" by the American Educational Theater Association.

The organization comprises college and high school drama teachers, and representatives of community groups.

"A good production of a challenging play may have more effect than scores of speeches on African problems," explains Prof. Paul Kozelka of Columbia University.

Three monetary prizes are to be given, two for English translations of native African plays, the other for an original script in English. The competition continues until Jan. 1, 1962.

OPTIONAL

Jet Brains Are Still Provincial

NEW YORK (AP)—"Our brains still function provincially in this jet age," says Gottfried Reinhardt.

The son of the famous stage producer, Max Reinhardt, he has just completed making the first joint U.S.-German movie since World War II. "Town Without Pity" concerns a GI accused of crime in a small German village.

"When we were making it, some people on each side of the project were convinced we were doing it to favor the other side," the producer-director asserts. "It was difficult because we had to pierce several terrific taboos."

For gourmets only: Next time you saute mushrooms in butter to be served on toast, use a little Madeira to rinse the skillet in which the mushrooms were cooked and use as the sauce.

"Miss Indian America" Acts As Ambassador To Americans

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The dark-eyed beauty is too polite to say so, but you can sense she thinks the Indians who sold Manhattan Island to the white settlers for $24 overcharged.

Vivian Linda Arviso, the current Miss Indian America, will take the lonely stretches of the Navajo reservation any day in preference to skyscrapers and traffic jams.

"I've been born a Navajo, and I'm proud to be a Navajo," she says. "And after college I want to go back to the reservation to live."

7TH TITLE HOLDER

Miss Arviso, whose Indian name is Do Nas Bah (Never having gone to war), is the seventh girl to wear the crown of Miss Indian America. She was selected from a field of 45 girls competing last August in the annual con-Indian Day at Sheridan, Wyo. Judging was based on character, knowledge of Indians, desire to do something for Indians, authentic costume from own tribe ("we couldn't look like a Hollywood Indian"), as well as personality, scholarship and appearance.

"We're the ambassador of the American Indian to other people, so we must have knowledge of tribes besides our own," she points out.

Now she's visiting tribes around the country as an honored guest. "The Indians pay the title much more respect than most people do the Miss America Contest at Atlantic City," she says.

POISE AND DIGNITY

Miss Arviso has a poise and dignity that makes her seem far older than her 19 years, far taller than her 5 foot 1. "I owe a great deal to my mother," she says. "She let me grow up the way I wanted to."

By that, she explains, she was the eldest of seven children, and very early became her father's righthand man on their ranch near Standing Rock, Ariz. At 3 she was riding horses, at 6 rounding up cattle.

The Navajo reservation land belongs to the tribe. Indian ranchers are given grazing permits and must keep their livestock under control without fences.

MATURING EXPERIENCE

"It's a maturing thing to be told, when you're a tiny girl, to ride 10 miles over there and ask a man at a hogan if he's seen a cow with a certain brand, and then find the cow and bring it back. It teaches you responsibility — and I wish more children in this country could have that training.

"I lived this rough and tumble life until I went away to college. My mother had had no schooling, but she encouraged me to go on to college. My father taught me Navajo traditions, and my mother made me aware of other people. She brought me up always to be kind, no matter what the other's economic or social standards. And she taught me to be temperate in everything, not to go overboard."

On a year's leave of absence from Colorado College in Colorado Springs, Miss Arviso will return next fall as a sophomore, majoring in sociology.

"I want to go back to the reservation and work for the Navajo tribe," she says. "A majority of the young educated Indians do — but they don't live as their grandfathers did. Those conscious of the problems want to go back and build up the reservations, but it's a question the individual must decide for himself.

"We do need to develop our own leadership. The Navajo population is 90,000 now; by 1975 it's expected to be twice that. And we have only 400 in college, with 50 graduates each year.

"But I'm proud of the Navajos. Every Indian should be proud of his own tribe."

PRESBYTERY PAYS TRIBUTE TO REV. ECKER

The "long and fruitful" ministry of the late Rev. Harry S. Ecker, who spent the last 18 years of his active ministry as pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, was noted in a memorial which was made a part of the minutes of a recent meeting of the Carlisle Presbytery.

Prepared by his successor at Lower Marsh Creek Church, the memorial took note of the 60 years he served as an ordained minister in the Presbyterian Church after graduating from New Windsor College in Maryland and from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1897, the memorial said in part:

"Mr. Ecker was ordained by Baltimore Presbytery, April 29, 1897, and installed as pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Frostburg, Maryland, on September 1, 1897, where he continued as pastor until April 30, 1908. Then he became pastor of the Olivet Presbyterian Church, Reading, Pennsylvania. His Reading pastorate lasted until September, 1939. On September 25, 1939, he was received by the Presbytery of Carlisle. Presbytery installed him as pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church near Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, on October 5, 1939. Significantly, his first official duty was to conduct the Friday night preparatory service for World-wide Communion Sunday. He served as pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Church until his retirement on March 31, 1957. He continued to make Gettysburg his home and was able to contribute much to the life of the church and community. His presence as a worshiping member of the Lower Marsh Creek Church was a benediction to the minister who was called to succeed him as well as to the members of the congregation. His gracious tact and wise cooperation remain a beautiful inspiration.

"The ministry of Harry S. Ecker was long and fruitful. He was beloved by those who knew him. The testimony of his preaching was reinforced by his life. He was a gifted preacher of unusual power. Mr. Ecker was a student of literature and is remembered for the beautiful passages which illuminated his messages. One of his outstanding characteristics was his appreciation of people.

"Mr. Ecker was a Mason. He was a member of the Mountain Lodge, No. 99, F. and A. M. of Frostburg, Maryland. As the senior member of the lodge, on February 21, 1960, he was presented a diamond pin in recognition of his 60 years of membership.

The Rev. Mr. Ecker died in his sleep at his home here March 15, 1960, at the age of 85.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
The Associated Press

The photographic world, dormant for a while, is about to erupt with a host of new cameras and equipment. Spurred on, perhaps, by the forthcoming world's photo fair, Photokina, opening in late September in Cologne, Germany, America's photo manufacturers have released their latest developments.

At a special showing for camera columnists, Kodak was first to display its photo goodies. It revealed motorized automation, coupled flash automation and zoom automation for still and movie cameras and projectors. They are also out with a working data guidebook for handling color in all its phases: exposing, processing and printing.

The star of the new line-up, in my opinion, is the Motormatic 35 camera. This is an electric eye 35mm camera with a 44mm f/2.8 lens which incorporates power-driven film advance with fully automatic exposure control and an automatic flash calculator. But, for those who wish special effects, the camera can be operated manually instead of automatically.

ADVANCES FILM

A large knob on the bottom of the camera winds a spring which provides the power to advance the film. One winding is good for 10 pictures. Two windings takes care of a 20-exposure roll. On the first winding, the leader of the film is advanced, stops and the exposure counter is set at "1." Thereafter, the shutter release must be pressed for each shot and the film advances to the next frame. A sequence of 10 pictures can be shot in six seconds.

The camera's photoelectric exposure meter provides fully automatic, correct exposures through a range of four shutter speeds: 1/40, 1/80, 1/125 and 1/250th second. Film speeds are set first, from ASA 10 to 800.

Another ingenious feature of the camera is the automatic flash exposure control. It is necessary only to set the correct guide number which is determined by the film and flashbulb combination being used. Thereafter, the lens diaphragm is coupled with the focusing mechanism so that the correct lens setting is automatically adjusted as the camera is focused.

NEW MOVIE CAMERA

The boom to zoom is evident in the new Kodak 8mm movie cameras and in the still and movie projectors. A power zoom, from 9mm to 25mm, is one feature of the new Zoom 8 Reflex movie camera with an f/1.9 lens. The other features are reflex, through-the-lens viewing and automatic exposure.

A single button controls the power zoom action. Pushed up, the lens goes to a wide-angle view; pushed down it zooms to telephoto view. Centered, for normal picture taking, a red pointer in the viewfinder indicates proper focusing position. Manual control of zoom action is provided via a knob on the left side of the camera near the lens. Power zooming can easily be overdone so it is advisable to set the lens at normal, wide-angle or telephoto positions before filming a scene in most of the shooting.

The new zoom movie cameras have corrected a fault found on earlier models. The viewfinder zooms or changes as the lens changes, so that the veiwer sees the scene he is shooting at the moment of filming.

The zoom lens feature on still and movie projectors enables the operator to adjust the picture size to fit the screen without moving either the screen or projector.

AUTOMATIC THREADING

Another feature of the new movie projectors is automatic threading. Anyone who has ever fiddled with the end of a film, trying to snag it in the groove of a take-up reel for a proper start, can appreciate the relief of just feeding it onto a moving film guide and watching the machine form the loops and attach itself to the take-up reel — automatically.

Getting away from cameras and equipment, the new Kodak Color Dataguide should be a helpful tool for serious photographers working in the color field. Its 40 pages have omitted theory in favor of working data. It also contains dial computors for figuring correct fliter packs for printing and exposure, gray cards, an original color negative and sample color print to be used as a standard, a set of six viewing filters, nine color reproductions to show correction of poor color balance and exposure and a filter pack chart.

CUSTOMS MEN HEAR TIRING TOURIST CRY

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks by incoming tourists that drive customs inspectors to the border of insanity:

"What's wrong with wearing two overcoats in July? You've just got a naturally suspicious nature."

"Go ahead, wise guy, and open the bag. It took me and my wife and the steward to close it. Let's see how many of you it takes to put it back together again."

SEARCH CRY

"Imagine it—having to be searched to get back into your own country! I'll bet you didn't open Jackie Kennedy's suitcase."

"Personally, I'm a Democrat myself, but I'm a close friend of our Republican county chairman back home. Just what are you fellows looking for most?"

"Have a cigar. Have two cigars!"

JUST LAUNDRY

"It's heartwarming to see how patient and thorough and hard-working you boys are. Never mind that bag over there. It's okay, just laundry."

"Do me a favor, will you? I'm mad at my wife. Open all our bags. The first one is mine—the other 14 are hers."

"Whatever you put in your report, please don't say anything about those towels or ashtrays, or the Hilton people will pick up my credit card."

FAMILY CAMERA

"I know it looks new but we've had this camera in the family for years. Here, I'll prove it. Stand still, and I'll take your picture. Hey, Maude, come over here. How did you say this d----d thing works?"

"I suppose a lot of people with things to hide try to softsoap you boys, don't they? Heh, heh, heh."

"Now I wonder who in the world put that in there."

HAS ANTIQUE

"I don't see how you can deny it's an antique. We bought it on a six-month around-the-world cruise, and I'm 66 years old myself."

"Yes, it does have a 25,000-franc price tag, but you know how the French exaggerate. Actually, it's just a little cologne for my old Aunt Melissa."

"They told me it was holy water and now you tell me it's whisky. The saints be praised, it's a miracle!"

FARM CALENDAR

Clip Poultry Range — Best results are obtained by keeping the poultry range clipped short. Tender, succulent forage has the greatest feeding value for poultry, and F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist, says the top 2 or 3 inches of grass and legumes has a protein value equal to the best growing mash.

Repellents Work — Science has found a way to make humans disagreeable to pesky insects, says J. O. Pepper, Penn Now you can work and eat outdoors, fish, hunt, or just sit in the shade without having to fight off mosquitoes, gnats, and other annoying insects. The newest repellents are quite pleasing to people but mightly distasteful to the pests.

Grass in Shade — Creeping red fescue, Chewing's fescue, Pea Trivialis, and Kentucky 31 fescue, are the grasses that get along best in the shade, reports Jack Harper, Penn State extension turf specialist.

Cut Fuel Bill — Fuel consumption on farm machines can be reduced an average of 15 per cent by correct adjustment and maintenance procedures, advises Burton S. Horne, Penn State extension agricultural engineer. About 75 per cent of farm machinery is out of adjustment, he claims, and unpainted, unshaded fuel storage tanks lose 3 per cent of their fuel, too.

Water Roses — If you want to keep the roses blooming beautifully, Lynn Smith, Penn State extension floriculturist, suggests regular watering and fertilizing during the summer. Sprinkle a handful of 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 fertilizer around each plant once a month, scratch it into the surface of the soil, and water thoroughly.

Finds Red Tape Same In Russia

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dr. Albert Sabin, Cincinnati virus researcher, says he found just as much red tape in Russia as the United States, but he found a Soviet scientist who could cut it.

Dr. Sabin, who developed a live-virus polio vaccine used much in the Soviet Union, said the scientist, Prof. Mikhail Chumakov, managed to stay ahead of bureaucratic snarls.

He said the professor on his own turned his Moscow institute into a production center to make Sabin vaccine. Dr. Sabin said it seemed a smart move because "I know from my four trips to the Soviet Union that red tape can be redder there than anywhere else."

Says Brando Gave Her A "Complex"

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's a girl's-eye-view of Marlon Brando:

"Dating Marlon was very interesting but he is such a complex person that I think I would end up more confused than enlightened."

That comes from Barbara Luna, the pretty Eurasian actress who used to date him. But she went on:

"But he did help me a lot. When I first met Marlon I was so full of 'I don't knows.' I graduated from high school at 15 and I never had much education after that. I never claimed to be an intellectual. He brought a lot of subjects into my life that I had never discussed before, like politics and religion, even wrestling. I learned a lot from him, but it almost gave me an inferiority complex."

Dial Retires Phone Operator

CALIFON, N. J. (AP) — For 47 years, Mrs. Mary Dumbrigue has been telling people, "Sorry, your time is up." But when the telephone exchange in this West Jersey community goes dial later this year, the time will be up for Mrs. Dumbrigue.

Mary was just a youngster 58 years ago when the first Califon switchboard was installed in her family's dining room by the New Jersey Telephone Co. The board has remained in her home ever since, with Mary's sister, Mrs. Albert Hagaman, preceding her as the first telephone operator — for $5 a month.

"I remember when I could clean house between calls," Mrs. Dumbrigue recalls. "If my father was on the board, he had time to cut the grass."

They had telephone numbers in the old days "but we didn't use them," Mrs. Dumbrigue says. "They'd just call me and say, 'Mary, I want to talk to John,' or something like that. I knew everybody by their first name."

Principal Devises Use Of Old Slates

UPPER ARLINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The old-fashioned school slate plays an important part in a learning device contrived by Upper Arlington Principal Paul Hill.

As a kind of do-it-yourself project, the young school administrator developed a plywood table surface, big enough for 12 pupils. It has a curved slot in which the teacher may sit at the center of one side, and a slate—fastened down to discourage breakage—at each pupil's place.

Twenty-three of them now are in use in Upper Arlington, which is a suburb of Columbus, Ohio's capital. Hill says the slates help they can copy drawings and figure or write on them. The table also is designed to improve posture, which the principal says tends to suffer when youngsters sit in chairs or on the floor and attempt to hold books.

Invents "Squeaks" For Pilot Trainee

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Most Air Force maintenance men are trying to get rid of squeaks, but Sgt. Charles E. Cloney and Airman Thomas Saliski invented one to keep George Air Force Base pilots happy.

The base has a Link trainer in which pilots go through all the motions and most of the experiences of flying without ever leaving the ground. Used to keep fliers proficient in use of instruments, the trainer simulated airplane motion, engine noise and other flight sensations.

But pilots complained that "landings" in the trainer lacked realism because there was no squeak as tires supposedly made initial friction contact with the runway. Cloney and Saliski fixed that by constructing an electronic gadget that's connected to the trainer's electrical system to give a realistic squeak at the appropriate moment.

Man' Conscience Wins Over Taxes

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A conscience-stricken taxpayer sent $2,000 in $100 bills to the Iowa office of the Federal Internal Revenue Service in Des Moines.

The accompanying letter said, in part:

"For years I have been angry with the way the government has wasted our tax dollars, but I am ashamed that I took this means of protesting. Another copy of this letter will be sent to you in the future just in the event that some joker gets his hands on the enclosed $100 bills and forgets to tell the government about it."

2 GIRLS SELL OLD FURS TO HIKE INCOME

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Last year two pretty girls were swinging over a snowy mountain in a chair lift debating about how they might deduct the high cost of skiing from their income tax.

Today Jimmy York and her partner, Carolyn Sherwin, can legitimately subtract their $3,000 to $4,000 annually spend traveling to ski lodges as business expenses. But they don't have any time to ski.

They are too busy operating a fur business which, because it grossed $125,000 within its first six months, has netted them reputations as the fashion world's financial wonders.

Selling Hot Heads, tall turbans made of long-haired furs, and renting used fur coats to ski kept them buried in dank fur storage basements with mountains of decrepit animal skins.

REMEMBERED THEM WELL

Those once proud symbols of status degraded to wilted piles of pelts was a sight that tugged a Jimmy's heart on a chance visit to such a storeroom some years ago. The lanky, black-eyed black-haired woman with an imagination remembered them again the day she was on the ski lift with Carolyn scheming about money.

With her feet firmly on the ground again, Carolyn and she gathered up $13,000 worth of the dejected bearskins, raccoons, oppossums, skunks, wolves and foxes, washed, cut away the bad pelts, and elevated them to society again.

On their first tax deductible trip to Aspen, Colo., they tucked 60 of the ticklish turbans into their suitcases. They came back with empty suitcases, fat wallets. Within weeks two national magazines hailed their hairy hats as the first fresh campus fad in years. Then department store buyers swooped down on them like locusts, even before they could open a dignified-looking office.

$1 A DAY

"Our files are still in the middle of the dessert dishes," Jimmy (whose Dad liked boys' names) sighs ruefully.

Yet among their discarded furs were many that were much too good to be severed by scissors, thought the girls. Why not rent these to college kids and ski enthusiasts at a dollar or two a day?

Because both young ladies were in the fashion business (for a large shoe company) they are well aware that their timing for this trend is perfect. But this part of the business is just getting a healthy start.

Now that Jimmy and Carolyn know how money is made, they're launching still another project to milk some from the summer season. This is a hairless scheme.

Jimmy's black eyes sparked dollar signs as she displayed a contoured, multi-colored headache band made of stretchable terry cloth. "We ought to sell millions of these at the beaches. Think of all the girls who hide their wet hair in messy scarves."

So the chances are good that the two astute business women may be able to deduct trips to the seashore on their income tax returns next year. But if business is as brisk at the beach as it was at the ski slopes, they may never go into the water.

Army TV Circuit In Tenth Year

FT. MONMOUTH, N. J. (AP)—This is the 10th year of operation of WFM-TV, one of the largest military closed — circuit television systems in the world.

WFM-TV, the first educational television system of its kind, began operation at the U. S. Army Signal Corps School here in 1951 with just one camera installed in a small studio and one receiver in a nearby classroom.

Today, it has seven closed-circuit channels feeding 468 classroom television receivers, 35 post hospital receivers and large-screen projection units in five post theaters and auditoriums.

The televised programs reach an audience of more than 10,000 military personnel.

Says Wife Must Keep Interests

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—"The home should not become the graveyard of the average woman's intellect," warned Mrs. Paul Douglas, wife of the U.S. Senator from Illinois.

She told a group of university women that "women must keep their interest fresh, even when their children are young, lest they be unable to recapture that interest when the 'new leisure' time comes."

"It is not the lack of opportunity, but lack of the knowledge of what to do with all the opportunities which leads to frustration and the dead end of discontent," she said.

Flop Play Wins Broadway Role

NEW YORK (AP) — Nancy Dussault, who cuts a pleasing and melodious figure as Tilda Mullen in the musical comedy "Do Re Mi," comes to Broadway via a flop.

The daughter of a Navy captain from Arlington, Va., Miss Dussault appeared last season in "Lock Up Your Daughters," which closed during out-of-town tryout. Critics panned the show but Nancy won personal praise.

In "Do Re Mi," written by Garson Kanin and with music by Jules Styne, she plays a back-country lass from Virginia who's promoted to a recording star by Phil Silvers.

Speech Trainer Doesn't Teach

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Genevieve Dickinson, who has coached eight state public speaking champions, says she doesn't teach speech. "I teach Mary and Johnny," she said. "I don't teach speech to Mary and Johnny."

Mrs. Dickinson says speech is a tool subject like grammar or writing. She does a "selling job" to make children like and understand the value of the class to them. They learn to speak—something she believes of tremendous importance in an age when voices can circle the world in seconds.

LEADERS HAIL FIRM WARNING TO RED BOSS

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders today enthusiastically praised President Kennedy's blunt warning to the Soviet Union that America will fight for Berlin if necessary.

Republicans and Democrats signalled solid support for Kennedy's request for $3,454,000,000 in new defense spending. There was no publicly dissenting voice to his program of boosting military strength by 217,000 men.

There even was Republican backing for a $207-million breakground fund for building civilian defense fallout shelters. In the past, Congress has snubbed such requests.

DIRKSEN APPROVES

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has concluded "we have reached the stage where we must do something about this. We cannot permit the Russians to use this avenue of possible blackmail."

Many who applauded Kennedy's firm stand on Berlin said they hoped the extra defense outlays could be offset by postponing some of Kennedy's domestic programs.

There was a general sigh of relief in Congress that Kennedy was not asking for any immediate increase in taxes.

TAX OUTLOOK

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., head of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said members have to face the fact that the President's program may require a boost in taxes. But he said he, for one, wouldn't vote for an increase "until we have made every effort to make savings elsewhere."

Dirksen said that his only critical comment about Kennedy's report to the nation was that the President should have said he was giving up some of his domestic programs.

"If freedom and survival are worthwhile, they come before the butter of domestic programs," Dirksen said.

CAPEHART VIEW

Sen. Homer Capehart, R-Ind., said that Kennedy could "cut out a lot of spending" if he chose. He said he hopes the President will let up on "this emergency business" which he said had been in vogue under Democratic presidents.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said it is time for Kennedy to "put some first things first."

"He should call off his demand for nonessential spending and practice some fiscal belt-tightening," Mundt said.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said the Democratic administration already has given signs it intends to do this. Case said Kennedy had indicated he intends to "get going on the facts of strength without rattling the sword."

There was no dissenting note to Kennedy's declaration that the West intends to stand on its rights in Berlin—and fight for them if necessary.

East Berlin

EAST BERLIN — Altar flowers Sunday were presented in memory of Herman Stambaugh by his wife and children. Acolyte was Kenneth Gruver. The Sunday bulletins were presented by Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gruver. The Junior High Luther League held a swimming party today at Hagerman's Pool, and the Senior League planned a trail ride for Thursday. Sunday at 7 o'clock the Senior League will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Krout, College Ave. The Juniors will meet at 6:30 p.m. at the church.

A solo "Grant Me, Dear Lord, Deep Peace" was sung Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church by Mrs. Glenn Wrights. The altar flowers were given in honor of Mrs. Luella Lerew's recent birthday by the family. The ULCW is planning a work visit to the Church World Service Center, New Windsor, Md., Thursday. This Saturday, the annual Sunday School picnic will be held at Willow Mill Park, Mechanicsburg.

The local 4-H Club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Gregory with President Gail Boyer in charge. Following the business meeting and several games, the girls continued working on their skirts. The next meeting will be held Monday at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Robert Gregory.

A birthday party was given D. Kent Witheroww, R. 6, at his home Sunday afternoon. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Linebaugh and Larry and Margene, Chester; Miss Miriam Witherow, Mercersburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Witherow, Mrs. Katie Miller and Miss Faith Linebaugh, R. 1; Mrs. Eleanor Linebaugh, Fairfield; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Witherow and children, R. 6; Mrs. Elmer Miller and Ronda, East Berlin, and Mrs. Kent Witherow and children. The guest of honor is recuperating at his home after suffering injuries of a broken heel following a 13-foot fall several weeks ago.

Friday evening, the VFW will hold its regular meeting at 8:30 o'clock at the post home. A home association meeting will follow. On Saturday, the Scotland School picnic will be held at Cold Springs Park, Waynesboro, Sunday, a stag picnic will be held for the local members at Cletus Mummert's cottage, near town.

TRY TO PASS COAL PIPELINE BILL IN PENNA.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Another attempt will be made in the house to pass a bill that would clear the way for construction of a $90 million coal pipeline across Pennsylvania.

The measure was defeated 88-108 Tuesday, but backers immediately moved to permit another vote on the measure.

The vote on the plan crossed party lines and saw unions and management from the railroad industry line up against companies and workers in the soft coal industry.

"ANOTHER BLOW"

Reps. Harold G. Miller and Charles A. Auker, Blair County Republicans, argued that the measure would be "another blow to distress industries, such as the railroads are."

The huge Altoona repair shop of the Pennsylvania Railroad is in their county.

Rep. Lee A. Donaldson, R-Allegheny, argued that a pipeline would enable coal to compete with the residual oil being imported in along the East Coast.

WOULD CARRY SLURRY

The pipeline would be designed to carry coal slurry, powdered coal mixed with water, from western Pennsylvania to the power plants in the Philadelphia area.

The legislation before the House would have provided eminent domain privileges for a right of way.

Costs of the project would be borne by a group of coal companies and a pipeline transmission firm.

OPPOSING VIEWS

Railroads claim they would lose considerable freight revenue if the coal is shipped by pipeline.

But Rep. William G. Buchanan, R-Indiana, argued that it is the "function of government to encourage, rather than retard, advances such as this that will help coal and the state."

Rep. J. Dean Polen, D-Washington, said the pipeline would "bring a new measure of prosperity to the coal fields of western Pennsylvania."

Settles $2,536 Claim For Dollar

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—"I would like very much," wrote William E. Ashby, 95, to the Polk County Board of Supervisors "to get this claim settled if possible before I pass away."

The board voted to settle the $2,536 claim for $1. An unidentified county official then paid the dollar.

Ashby owed the county $6,138 for treatment of his late wife, Bessie, at a state mental hospital. He had paid $3,602.

Rains Red Paint In Buffalo, N.Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — "It's raining red paint!" exclaimed an excited citizen on the phone, complaining about his dripping red automobile.

An investigation by the city's showed that a workman scooping up red dye in a chemical plant was standing too close to a ventilator. The fan was drawing up dust and spraying it into the outdoors.

"The dye has a high tinctorial value," said an official. "A little spot, when wet, goes a long, long way."

The prescription: a detergent, an auto wax, some elbow grease.

Taped Music Gets Varied Comments

CINCINNATI (AP) — Taped music tailored for special occasions serenades downtown Cincinnati three times a day as a public relations gesture by an insurance firm.

Most comment is favorable, but a flock of complaints came in during "Invest in America Week." Songs like "Three Coins in the Fountain," I Found a Million Dollar Baby" and "Pennies from Heaven" were played over and over.

FOIL BANDITS' BANK ROBBERY

NEW YORK (AP)—"We may wind up in jail for a long time. We may get killed. But we'll get the money."

These were the closing lines in a letter that Richard James, 25, wrote—but never mailed—to his mother prior to a dramatic, bullet-punctuated $15,515 robbery of a West 23rd Street bank Tuesday.

James was captured. His partner, Lawrence Williams, 26, died in a gun battle with police across from crowded Pennsylvania Station only moments after the robbery.

BOTH WERE NEGROES

Police found the letter in James' room, along with detailed maps and plans for subsequent holdups of two other West Side banks.

The two bandits, Negroes, used a taxicab for what apparently was their first journey into bank-robbing. James remained outside the Broadway Savings Bank while Williams, armed with a sawed-off shotgun and a .45 caliber pistol, went in.

In a loud voice, Williams commanded a teller to fill a bag with money. Then he threw a smoke bomb to obscure his movements.

SHOT IN LEG

The bank's assistant secretary, Walter Engkjer, 52, was shot in the leg when he grabbed a gun and rushed at Williams as the robber fled outside and joined his companion in the cab.

James burst into the street with his hands up and surrendered. Williams came out shooting, and died in a hail of bullets.

Police recovered all but $4,756 of the money.

Civil Defense Has Taken Many Steps For Survival In Case Of Atom Attack

EDITOR'S NOTE—What benefits have accumulated from U.S. civil defense programs to date? In this third of four articles, Sterling F. Green examines the value of previous efforts.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials agree the home front would not be ready—despite a considerable measure of civil defense preparedness — if World War III would come this year.

The modestly financed and largely voluntary effort of the past decade has left these assets:

A warning system officially "excellent." From the Arctic outposts a warning can be flashed to more than 400 state and city central warning points in 15 seconds. The relay to 5,000 more local points averages seven minutes. The time is being shortened.

NETWORK ALERT

The nationwide wire network for transmission of alerts, orders and information is being backstopped by a radio network for use if the wires are knocked out.

Forty federal agencies, some state governments, and many major corporations have set up secret emergency headquarters remote from target areas and equipped for survival and communication.

Major banks and insurance companies tuck away microfilm copies of their records in blastproof underground depositories. The Federal Reserve Board has provided for ready-to-use caches of currency.

HIDDEN SITES

The annual "Operation Alert" exercises have schooled key federal officials in running the government from hidden "relocation sites," under hypothetical conditions intended to duplicate the chaos that would follow an attack.

Civilian take-cover and evacuation drills have had good success in many areas, less satisfactory results in others.

A stockpile of survival items exists but is inadequate. Besides medical and engineering supplies it includes 1,400 emergenccy hospital setups, distributed in every state and territory.

Some 2,250 executives from industry, labor, education and other fields make up a "National Defense Executive Reserve." All have had at least six months experience in the government. All are pledged to drop their civilian jobs and take over the formation and operation of emergency wartime agencies when and if the call comes.

DISASTER PLANS

Twenty-nine states have provided legally — or have begun legislation to do so—the means for disignating successors in case state officials are killed, and for running their governments outside the cacpitals.

Five states—Hawaii, Delaware, Georgia, Virginia and Maryland —have emergency relocation centers—hideaway statehouses. Nebraska has just voted for a blastproof, $380,000 center. The federal government is to pay half the cost.

These would not be only for civil defense use, but for state government activities.

AVOID MARTIAL LAW

An office of civil and defense mobilization spokesman said: "It is our idea to avoid martial law, to keep constitutional government operating at every level even under the impact of atomic assault."

Unhappily, civil defense officials admit they do not know how many cities, cocunties and areas lack a functioning civil defense organization, and how many of those set up in the Korean crisis may have lapsed into inactivity.

Next — Shelters and Survivors

Minister Must Watch Emotions

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Pastors should try to begin their hospital calls with fairly easy ones which do not overtax their emotions, says Dr. G. Carlan Elliott of Christ Methodist Church.

Then they do not have to shift emotional gears so much from dealing with the gravely ill to congratulating new mothers or chatting with those with minor ailments.

However, the Rev. John W. Herman, chaplain at Fairhill Psychiatric Hospital in Cleveland, has concluded that pastors should realize when they have "had it" for the day and quit.

"Sometimes it's better to go play golf for the rest of the afternoon," he says. "A person can only do so much."

Man Panhandler Begs For Woman

BALTIMORE (AP)—The man and woman were begging money as a team near the bus terminal, but the man did all the talking. He asked one pedestrian for a dime for himself and something more "for my girl friend."

"What's the matter?" asked the pedestrian. "Can't the lady ask for her own dime?"

"She's no panhandler," said the bum, with a touch of indignation.

Warns Against Using 'Red' Ideas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP — The bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Southern Ohio, the Rt. Rev. Roger W. Blanchard, has warned against using Communist techniques in the current campaign against communism.

"Let us resist . . . not assist," he urged in a speech before the diocesan convention at St. Paul's Church.

Referring to claims by some persons that churches affiliated with the National Council of Churches are filled with Communist sympathizers, the bishop said:

"I am concerned . . . lest in their laudable desire to combat communism they, through their tactics, become what they seek to combat."

Preserve Error On Church Tablet

BALTIMORE (AP)—One of the oldest chiseled errors in Baltimore is preserved in a 146-year-old stone tablet in the yard of the Otterbein Church of the United Brethren in Christ.

In German, the stone records June 4, 1726, as the birth date of Bishop Wilhelm Otterbein, the founder. Bishop Otterbein actually was born June 3, 1726.

The date came from an ordination certificate unaccountably wrong. The error is corrected, in English, on a newer stone memorial installed in the yard in 1913.

MAINE CHANCE ROUTINES CAN SLIM FIGURE

The Associated Press

A girl can try for an hourglass figure this summer in her own home beauty salon with these menus and exercises from the Maine Chance resort.

Elizabeth Arden reveals a typical day's menu.

Breakfast: Grapefruit and coffee.

DAILY MENU

Morning Snack: A hot broth made of celery, carrots, string beans, watercress, parsley, potatoes, mushrooms.

Luncheon: Broiled cubed beef, baked zucchini with shallots, green peppers, mushroom caps, watercress salad with fat free dressing, coffee, lemon snow.

Dinner: Broiled breast of chicken, tomato provencale (broiled), fresh asparagus tips with mock Polanaise sauce, raspberry ice with honey, coffee.

A cocktail made of fresh fruit or vegetable juice is served with hors d'oeuvres.

Typical exercises include these:

HIPS AND THIGHS

1. Lie flat on your back. Stretch arms out to sides with palms up. Bend knees and place feet on floor close to hips. Keeping upper part of body flat, spank the hips from side to side, touching mat firmly with thighs at each roll.

2. Sit upright on the floor, legs out straight. Bend elbows and place hands in front of your chest. Move one leg forward, lifting your hip at the same time. Repeat with the other leg until you "walk" on your hips. Reverse and "walk" backward.

3. Lie flat on your back with hands under your hips. Bend knees over chest. Now bend and straighten legs up toward the ceiling as though you were riding a bicycle. Right leg is down while the left leg is up.

IMPROVE POSTURE

1. Stand aainst a wall, feet four inches away from the wall and four inches apart. Bend your knees. Press your spine at waist line against the wall. Slowly slide back up the wall only as far as you can with your spine and waist still against the wall. Lift your rib cage, keeping shoulders back and down. Walk away from the wall, maintaining the same posture. (These are said to result in a flawless carriage, if this posture position is practiced every day.)

ROUNDED SHOULDERS

1. Sit on a chair with your feet placed squarely on the floor. Raise your arms straight above your head and clasp your hands. Turn hands so that palms face ceiling. Keep arms straight, push until elbows are back of ears. Relax. Repeat 20 times.

ABDOMEN AND WAIST

1. Lie on floor, stretch arms out to side at shoulder level with palms up. Bend both knees over chest. Drop both knees directly out from hip to right side. Keep knees on floor and pull them up to elbow. Bring knees back over chest. Repeat to other side.

12-Year Old Is Choir Director

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—"And a child shall lead them" is a phrase that 12-year-old Betty Ann Hiemstra takes literally when she leads the choir at the Christ Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Betty Ann, from Fair Lawn, probably is one of the youngest church organists in the country, according to Rev. Vernon C. Morse, pastor.

Betty Ann started piano lessons when she was 6 and turned to the electric organ four years later.

She was selected as the over six other persons—all adults.

"She just seemed to have the soft but confident touch needed here," says Rev. Morse.

Many cooks like to drain fat from bacon that's being cooked in a skillet as the fat accumulates.

You'll feel old-time virtue if you bake your own beans. Follow any standard recipe. These usually call for salt pork, but if there's a ham bone in the house you may substitute it for the salt pork. It won't hurt to throw in bits of ham along with the bone.

Small pickled onions in the house? They taste good when they are used as a garnish for deviled eggs.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

B. F. M. MacPherson

MORE KITCHEN GENEALOGY

The genealogical data on the Kitchen family, the descendants of Derrick Kitchen who came into what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania, from New Jersey before the War of the American Revolution, is continued at this time.

Richard Kitchen, who was probably a son of Derrick Kitchen, pioneer settler, died in 1814, apparently without making a will since his estate was administered by the Orphans' Court. The "Adams Centinel" published a list of Richard Kitchen's heirs under the date given— as follows:

4, Wednesday, October 12, 1814, "Orphans Court, Adams County, "To Stephen Kitchen, Isaac Patterson and Margaret Kitchen, his wife; Joseph Kitchen, John Kitchen, Richard Kitchen, Peter Kitchen, Isaac Bercaw and Esther Kitchen, his wife: John Miley, Esq., guardian of Henry Kitchen, and Danill Slagel, guardian of Hannah Kitchen, Sarah Kitchen, Edward Kitchen and Abraham Kitchen—children and legal representatives of said children of Richard Kitchen, deceased, late of the Township of Hamilton, Adams County, Pennsylvania, who died seized of four tracts of land in said township, which will be partitioned at his late dwelling house, among the above, on Friday, December the 9th, 1814."

ANSWERS QUESTIONS

The above answers quite a few questions. In the first place the Joseph Kitchen, buried in the "Upper" Low Dutch Churchyard, was a son of Richard Kitchen, grandson of Derrick Kitchen, and a brother of Esther (or Hetty) Kitchen Bercaw, the wife of Isaac Bercaw.

Secondly Richard Kitchen and his wife, who apparently predeceased her husband since she is not included among his survivors, are probably buried in the "Upper" Churchyard in graves that were never marked or from which the gravestones have long since disappeared. In the list of unmarked graves in the Kitchen burial plot might also be included those of Derrick Kitchen and his wife and Henry Kitchen, the son of Richard Kitchen, who died before 1814. In addition there were probably other burials — graves whose occupants will never be known by name since the burial records of the colony were either lost or destroyed—if kept at all.

This concludes, for the present, the genealogical notes on the Kitchen family of the Low Dutch settlement of the Conewago.

McCREARY FAMILY

The next family to be taken under consideration, with burial plot in the "Upper" Low Dutch Churchyard, is the McCrearys. This clan has two marked graves with inscriptions as follows:

1. "In memory of/ Sarah McCreary/, Born January 28th, 1786,/ Died December 24th, 1858."

2. "Sacred/ to the memory of/ David McCreary,/ Born December 18, 1793,/ Died Aguust 17th, 1858."

In the "Adams Centinel" (later the "Star and Sentinel" the following data on the McCrearys of the Low Dutch Settlement of the Conewago can be found under the date given:

1. Monday, January 24, 1859, "Died, December 24th, 1858, at the home of Mr. Isaac Brinkerhoff, Strabane Township, this County, Mrs. Sarah McCreary, in the 71st year of her age."

SEVEN YEARS OLDER

Note: Undoubtedly the Sarah McCreary buried in the "Upper" Dutch Reformed Churchyard. Was this "Mrs. Sarah" the wife of David McCreary who is buried beside her? The records from the tombstone would show her to be some seven years older than h husband — if they were husband and wife.

The McCrearys were a numerous clan and the majority of them were members of the Presbyterian Church—in fact some of the McCrearys were buried in the old Presbyterian Churchyard, located in the first block of Washington Street in Gettysburg, and their remains, along with many others, were moved to the Evergreen Cemetery over 100 years ago.

Isaac Brinkerhoff, at whose home Mrs. Sarah McCreary died, was married to Rachel McCreary, and it is reasonable to assume that Sarah McCreary was her mother and David McCreary was probably her father. Rev. Dr. Demorest does not mention the McCrearys in his list of settlers at Conewago, they were "imports." David and Sarah McCreary came to be buried in the old Dutch Churchyard through the incident of an intermarriage.

INSCRIPTIONS ON MARKERS

Isaac Brinkerhoff and his wife, Rachael McCreary, are both buried at the Low Dutch Churchyard and the inscriptions from the markers at their graves are as given below:

3. "In memory of/ Rachael,/ consort of/ Isaac Brinkerhoff,/ Died September 20, 1835,/ Aged 36 years.

4. "In memory of/ Isaac Brinkerhoff,/ Died December 24, 1863,/ Aged 67 years, 6 months,/ and 4 days."

This concludes, the data on the "transplanted McCrearys" of the Low Dutch Settlement.

There are but few marked graves left for consideration in the "Upper" Graveyard and in the majority of cases only one stone remains to remind the researcher that such a family was, at one time, part of the settlement. These "fragments" are listed as follows:

1. "Sacred/ to the memory of/ Mary Robinson,/ Died July 4, 1852,/ Aged 77 years and/ 6 months."

Note: "Adams Centinel," Monday, August 22, 1842:

"Married, August 18, 1842, by the Rev. Benjamin Keller, of this place, Mr. Jacob Robeson to Miss Mary Fehl, the daughter of Mr. Valentine Fehl of Menallen Township, this County."

The Mary Robeson, buried at the old Dutch Churchyard, may well be the daughter of Valentine Fehl and the second wife of Jacob Robeson, but just why was she interred at the "Upper" Low Dutch Reformed graveyard?

There will be more about the Robeson (or Robison) family in this column next week.

Balmain Sews Only For Those Who Toil Not

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Pierre Balmain stuck with a bias-cut tube silhouette in his new fall and winter collection shown on Tuesday. The slim line is fortunate, since mannequins had to snake their way double file down a corridor among the audience, which left them about 18 inches of freeway.

Knees are discreetly covered, skirts are ever so slightly flared forward, jackets are short and neat, and hats are a happy marriage of turban and helmet, towering backward.

Balmain makes no bones about the kind of client he caters for. In a press handout that sets new heights for pure snobbery, he makes it clear that he sews only for the lilies of the field, who toil not.

TRAIL GOLD WRAPS

Thus announced, Balmain's haughty mannequins peer out over eye-level sable collars and trail their ermine-lined gold wraps disdainfully on the floor.

Balmain's infatuation with big plaids has led him to make what is surely fashion's first plaid fur coat—black astrakhan criss-crossed with braid and tweed bands. There is even an all-beaded black and white plaid blouse.

Cloth coats come in various plaids: black and brown, red and gray, black and white, or orange and brown.

Brown, beige, gray, black, red and electric pink are the colors of the collection. As usual, there are some three color mixtures in ball gowns. One of the most successful is olive, black and peacock blue.

Grainy wools for day clothes give way to velvet, satin, lace and lame for evenings. A black lace coat is lined with white ermine, and satin theater suits have jeweled blouses. A snaky red velvet tube sheat sports an endless red ostrich boa. A slim black suit fairly exploded with a fluffy black and white ostrich collar and hat.

All this rather contradicts the hat.

JFK PERSPIRES OVER HIS STERN U.S. MESSAGE

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tiny beads of perspiration dotted the forehead, the back of the neck and the hands of President Kennedy Tuesday night as he delivered his radio-TV speech to the nation.

Kennedy seemed oblivious to this. Under the glare of camera floodlights, he concentrated on getting across to his unseen audience the sternest message of his short tenute in the White House.

For more than a half hour, the chief executive, 44, was the picture of intensity. His manner was as somber as his words telling of possible atomic war over Berlin and his plans to avert such a war.

Glancing at a large-type text on a lectern, Kennedy spoke fairly rapidly without extra heavy emphasis until the end. Then he gravely added a "personal word" not in the original text.

Slowly, he told his fellow Americans:

"When I ran for the presidency of the United States I knew that this country faced serious challenges, but I could not realize nor could any man realize who does not bear the burdens of this office, how heavy and constant would be those burdens.

"In meeting my responsibilities in these coming months as president, I need your good will and your support—and above all, your prayers."

Kennedy's hands touched the papers of his text restlessly, perhaps a bit nervously, as he spoke.

The President did not smile once either during his speech or as he strode from his office afterwards.

About 50 newsmen, cameramen and aides crowded into the presidential office. Among them was a representative of the Soviet news agency Tass, who watched impassively.

Learns That Looks Are Deceiving

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mrs. Esther Jones of Pittsburgh has learned that kind-looking people aren't always honest.

She was in a store burdened down with a number of small packages. A man she described as kind-looking approached and said: "What you need is to put all your packages in one big shopping bag."

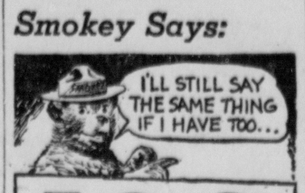

The man went away and came back with a bag. Mrs. Jones gave him the packages and he promptly walked away and never returned. The packages contained two pairs of shoes, a skirt and other wearing apparel.

Many Compounds Tested In Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for more effective medicines for use in treating cancer is a massive one.

There are now about 20 compounds used in the fight against cancer, according to the Pharmaceutical Manufactures Assn.

SCIENCE EYES MAMMOTH, BUG WARS, WATERS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ancient waters, death among the mammoths, and bug wars are in the science news:

OLD WATER

Water in some deep wells in the Saudi Arabian desert appears to range from 20,000 to nearly 25,000 years old, three U.S. Geological Survey scientists report.

They measured the age of water through its content of radioactive carbon-14, which is formed in the atmosphere by cosmic rays, and then drifts to earth or falls in rainwater.

The deep well water may have fallen as rain during the Wisconsin glacial period when there were heavy rains, said Leland Thatcher, Meyer Rubin and Glen F. Brown. They analyzed samples of water collected by the Arabian American Oil Company.

BUG WAR

To fight insect pests, use bug-eating bugs, urges Carl B. Huffacker of the University of California.

He doesn't think man has done enough to enlist predatory bugs as allies in fighting pests, and thinks they can do a good job.

In a current project Huffacker is trying to find a natural enemy to control scale insects in olive trees, and says a very effective predatory insect has been imported from Persia. A related insect, from Spain, didn't work out too well, he adds.

As successes in bug-to-bug war, Haffacker cites the importation of Australian beetles to control a weed in Northern California rangelands, and the spread of milky white disease among Japanese beetles infesting eastern states.

DEMISE OF THE MAMMOTHS

There's a wide belief that glaciers sweeping down from the north suddenly wiped out 50,000 woolly mammoths roaming the Siberian tundras 10,000 to 30,000 years ago.

But William R. Farrand of Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory, finds evidence against this theory.

He agrees the mammoths did die suddenly, as evidenced by food found in their teeth and stomachs, but thinks they were probably asphyxiated when they drowned in lakes or bogs, or were trapped by mudflows or cave-ins of river banks.

Only 39 remains of mammoths have been found, and this number is about what could be expected from accidental burial, he says. The fact most of the remains were decayed or mutilated by predators before freezing indicates the mammoths didn't perish suddenly in glaciers.

But in the last three years, says the association, tens of thousands of chemicals, compounds or other substances have been tested in laboratories.

In 1958, only 60 of 28,000 substances studied proved worthy of clinical investigation on humans. In 1959, out of 36,000, there were 49 given further study. Figures are not in for 1960.

A Lovelier You

CAUSE AND TREATMENT OF BLACKHEADS. A lovely writes: I have a skin problem—blackheads. The condition seems worse in the summer. Why should this be and what will bring relief?

The Answer: Get to know the nature of these "beasts!" Then treatment to overcome them will be more meaningful, more compelling to follow.

So let's look first at the cause. Widespread blackheads result from over-active oil glands. Summer's heat may temporarily step up the flow. In any event, a blackhead forms when an oil gland becames plugged. The dark color is due to oxidation.

Other than the beauty threat, the danger from blackheads is inflammation and then a flare-up of pimples. Infection is imminent, owing to the presence of bacteria in the blackhead and on the skin's surface.

As soon as those facts are understood, it becomes obvious that scrupulous cleanliness and corrective medication cornerstone treatment. Cleanliness fights bacteria and keeps the pores free of oil. Medication reaches into and works on subsurfaces.

The ABC of cleansing is a soap-and water wash, several times daily. Lotions, formulated for the purpose, take care of medication.

To extend benefits, there are medicated foundations, powders and spot sticks. Steaming over hot water is an effective way to keep the pores open and dislodge stubborn blackheads. Squeezing has become a taboo—just ask a dermatologist, and doubtless that would prove the best move of all.

ENHANCED BOSOMLINE

For a more attractive bosom, write me: A Lovelier You, Box 158, The Gettysburg Times, Dundee, Ill., requesting my five-cent pamphlet, ENHANCED BOSOMLINE. Don't forget to include five cents in coin and a LARGE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE. ENHANCED BOSOMLINE contains detailed instructions on how curve and lift can be improved through exercise, posture and corsetry.

LOOK TO THE FUTURE—Benedictine monks discuss the details of a model of the new Prinknash Abbey they are building in western England. In background is the finished floor base of the crypt. It will take more than a generation to complete the abbey.

Economists explain that money consists of "jingling" money (coins); "folding" money (paper money or currency); and "checkbook" money (money on deposit in checking accounts of commercial banks).

There is about $145 billion of "money," including coins, currency and checking accounts, in the nation, and the commercial bank checking accounts amount to $113 billion or about 77% of the total.

Technically coins and currency are the only legal tender; but as a nation we have come to accept, and exchange, checks as money. We are now writing about 13 billion checks each year, and by 1970 will probably exceed 22 billion checks. Therefore, our principal medium of exchange in the United States is the check.

Research and studies in the home reveal that the average housewife in a family of four will cover 24,000 city blocks or 3,000 miles annually doing the household chores. And it's a safe assumption that a majority of these miles will be walked off in the kitchen.

Announcement was made recently of a nonprofit Michigan Corporation known as the Alaska Homesteaders Association. It was created for the purpose of assisting any United States citizen who wishes to homestead up to 160 acres on federal land, purchase up to 640 acres from the state of Alaska, start a new business or industry (or extend their present facility), or to visit the 49th state where everything and everybody appears to be "a little closer to God."

A great poet and philosopher, Goethe, had this to say on an abundant and fruitful life for the individual. His statement might well be a one-paragraph commencement address. He said the individual should have:

"Health enough to make work a pleasure; Wealth enough to support your needs; Strength enough to battle with your difficulties and overcome them; Grace enough to confess your sins and forsake them; Patience enough to toil until some good is accomplished; Charity enough to see some good in your neighbor; Love enough to move you to be useful and helpful to others; Faith enough to make real the things of God; Hope enough to remove all anxious fear concerning the future."

RACKET TOSS BY BOB MARK STIRS TENNIS

HAVERFORD, Pa. (AP) — A vice president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association says his group doesn't want to make an international incident out of the throwing of a racket by Australia's fiery Bob Mark.

Mark, top-seeded foreign entry, threw his racket Tuesday in the second round of the Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis championships during a match with Mike Green, a transplanted Floridian now playing out of Philadelphia. It bounced on the turf and nearly struck a group of ball boys near the umpire's chair on the sidelines.

James B. Dickey, second vice-president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, said:

"Of course, the Australians are very critical of Chuck (McKinley) when he threw his racket over there. We don't want to be that way and blow this thing into an international incident. But, Naturally, we deplore the act of racket throwing."

Mark survived three match points in the third set to defeat Green, 6-4, 5-7, 13-11. The set had followed serve through 12 games.

Mark explained later that the combination of the heat and the humidit, plus "the nauseating repetition of serve, serve, and serve without being able to break through" got him down.

By averting a major upset, Mark reached today's third round along with American favorites McKinley, seeded No. 1, Dennis Ralston, and Vic Seixas.

Albatross Survivor Visits Parents Of Lost Students

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

It was all over in 45 seconds, the recent sinking of the schoolship Albatross in the Gulf of Mexico.

Even the 23 hours in water waiting for rescue still seems sometimes like a bad dream to Charles Geig, one of the students.

But it all becomes very real when he visits the parents of his four fellow crewmen who were lost. This kind of mission isn't easy for a youngster of 17. And he knows it isn't easy for the parents.

"But it has been good for us to talk it out," he says. He has been to Arlington, Va., with another survivor, Davis Johnstone, to visit the Max Goodletts, who lost their son, John. He's been to Newport Beach, Calif., with the 92-foot brigantine's skipper, Capt. Christopher Sheldon, who lost his wife, Alice, the ship's doctor. There they talked with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Marsellus, who lost their son, Rick.

OTHER VISITS

Soon he plans to visit the Robert Wetherills in Media, Pa., whose son, Robin, was a victim, and the Robert Coristines of Montreal, Que., who lost their son, Chris. Young Chuck is using his own funds for the trips.

They had not seen their sons for seven months, during the tour of the Albatross, where school courses were combined with seamanship and the chance to visit far places.

"You identify snapshots sent home by their sons, and tell them about life aboard, about bunks so crowded with gifts tagged for home that we were ready to move up on deck," he says.

Learning on the schoolship?

"It was easy," says Chuck. "We spoke Spanish in the ports. We studied biology first-hand on the islands, specimens of wonderful animals, and our navigation course gave us practical use of our math."

STUDIED PHILOSOPHY

The boys became philosophical too.

"When we sat out there on the ship it was like being in space looking at America for the first time. We got a new perspective. We talked to people in other countries, and found they didn't know us. We didn't know them, either. You can't learn about people from history books."

The squall that capsized the Albatross was a freak, Chuck tells the parents, and he and the other boys would take that one-in-a-million chance again.

"I had been on watch only half an hour," he explains. "It was raining, but I kept postponing a trip below for my rain hat. I got up to do it, and water poured in and we went over flat."

The 13 survivors worked furiously in the water to right and bail out two 17-foot long boats. They used a partially deflated yellow rubber raft as a hood to protect themselves against exposure.

HAD 15 STUDENTS

All the boys had taken senior life saving courses and survival kits were in the small boats, and though there was enough food for two weeks and handlines for fishing, they were on a good ship lane 125 miles off the keys and were picked up the next day by the Gran Rio.

They had started with 15 students, a cook who had a master's degree in English; the captain who taught navigation and Spanish; his wife, the ship's doctor, who also taught zoology and biology; and two paid teachers who taught English and math. The cook, Dr. Sheldon and the four student victims were trapped below deck.

"Five of the boys were on partial scholarship," Chuck says, "working six extra hours a day. My tuition was paid partially from my savings, funds from my grandmother and my parents." The $3,200 tuition was not exorbitant, he says, "when you consider the cost of prep schools and travel."

Chuck plans to attend public school next year. He'll write a book this summer about his experiences. He has a ship's log—sent to his father and other relatives in daily letter form.

"Mary Stuart" Will Make Another Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Eva Le Gallienne is going on tour for the second time in "Mary Stuart."

The 35-week expedition next fall is to launch the National Repertory Theater, formed to develop a permanent touring group presenting several dramas in rotation.

"Mary Stuart" will be played on the road in alternation with "Elizabeth the Queen." Miss Le Gallienne will portray England's QUeen Bess in both. "Mary Stuart" was previously toured successfully a year ago.

Unusual Panel Has Symbolism

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The story of St. Christopher, symbolizing man's search for God, is portrayed in an unusual relief on two panels at the front of St. Christopher's Church here.

Between the panels, each of which is 40 feet high and 12 feet wide, is a stained glass shaft of baptistry windows. The relief was done by William Thompson, member of the Fine and Applied Arts Department faculty at Ohio State University.

A scale model first was carved in plaster, then cut by the artist in Indiana limestone. At night, the constant changing of light patterns heightens its beauty.

Buys Fire Truck For Estate Use

HOPATCONG, N. J. (AP) — Richard Saffin, a veteran financier, has spent $500 on an item which he hopes he never has to use.

Saffin spent the money on a 1936 fire truck which Denville Township was replacing. It will be used to keep brush fires on Saffin's 1,200-acre estate under control until firemen arrive.

Saffin, senior partner in the New York investment firm of Boland, Saffin, Gordon & Sautter, says he is "deathly afraid" of brush fire. He said five years ago a brush fire flared out of control and burned for a week.

Saffin says that despite the speed of firemen, "once a fire gets started, it's hard to put out."

Albatross Survivor Visits Parents Of Lost Students

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

It was all over in 45 seconds, the recent sinking of the schoolship Albatross in the Gulf of Mexico.

Even the 23 hours in water waiting for rescue still seems sometimes like a bad dream to Charles Geig, one of the students.

But it all becomes very real when he visits the parents of his four fellow crewmen who were lost. This kind of mission isn't easy for a youngster of 17. And he knows it isn't easy for the parents.

"But it has been good for us to talk it out," he says. He has been to Arlington, Va., with another survivor, Davis Johnstone, to visit the Max Goodletts, who lost their son, John. He's been to Newport Beach, Calif., with the 92-foot brigantine's skipper, Capt. Christopher Sheldon, who lost his wife, Alice, the ship's doctor. There they talked with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Marsellus, who lost their son, Rick.

OTHER VISITS

Soon he plans to visit the Robert Wetherills in Media, Pa., whose son, Robin, was a victim, and the Robert Coristines of Montreal, Que., who lost their son, Chris. Young Chuck is using his own funds for the trips.

They had not seen their sons for seven months, during the tour of the Albatross, where school courses were combined with seamanship and the chance to visit far places.

"You identify snapshots sent home by their sons, and tell them about life aboard, about bunks so crowded with gifts tagged for home that we were ready to move up on deck," he says.

Learning on the schoolship?

"It was easy," says Chuck. "We spoke Spanish in the ports. We studied biology first-hand on the islands, specimens of wonderful animals, and our navigation course gave us practical use of our math."

STUDIED PHILOSOPHY

The boys became philosophical too.

"When we sat out there on the ship it was like being in space looking at America for the first time. We got a new perspective. We talked to people in other countries, and found they didn't know us. We didn't know them, either. You can't learn about people from history books."

The squall that capsized the Albatross was a freak, Chuck tells the parents, and he and the other boys would take that one-in-a-million chance again.

"I had been on watch only half an hour," he explains. "It was raining, but I kept postponing a trip below for my rain hat. I got up to do it, and water poured in and we went over flat."

The 13 survivors worked furiously in the water to right and bail out two 17-foot long boats. They used a partially deflated yellow rubber raft as a hood to protect themselves against exposure.

HAD 15 STUDENTS

All the boys had taken senior life saving courses and survival kits were in the small boats, and though there was enough food for two weeks and handlines for fishing, they were on a good ship lane 125 miles off the keys and were picked up the next day by the Gran Rio.

They had started with 15 students, a cook who had a master's degree in English; the captain who taught navigation and Spanish; his wife, the ship's doctor, who also taught zoology and biology; and two paid teachers who taught English and math. The cook, Dr. Sheldon and the four student victims were trapped below deck.

"Five of the boys were on partial scholarship," Chuck says, "working six extra hours a day. My tuition was paid partially from my savings, funds from my grandmother and my parents." The $3,200 tuition was not exorbitant, he says, "when you consider the cost of prep schools and travel."

Chuck plans to attend public school next year. He'll write a book this summer about his experiences. He has a ship's log—sent to his father and other relatives in daily letter form.

"Mary Stuart" Will Make Another Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Eva Le Gallienne is going on tour for the second time in "Mary Stuart."

The 35-week expedition next fall is to launch the National Repertory Theater, formed to develop a permanent touring group presenting several dramas in rotation.

"Mary Stuart" will be played on the road in alternation with "Elizabeth the Queen." Miss Le Gallienne will portray England's QUeen Bess in both. "Mary Stuart" was previously toured successfully a year ago.

Unusual Panel Has Symbolism

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The story of St. Christopher, symbolizing man's search for God, is portrayed in an unusual relief on two panels at the front of St. Christopher's Church here.

Between the panels, each of which is 40 feet high and 12 feet wide, is a stained glass shaft of baptistry windows. The relief was done by William Thompson, member of the Fine and Applied Arts Department faculty at Ohio State University.

A scale model first was carved in plaster, then cut by the artist in Indiana limestone. At night, the constant changing of light patterns heightens its beauty.

Buys Fire Truck For Estate Use

HOPATCONG, N. J. (AP) — Richard Saffin, a veteran financier, has spent $500 on an item which he hopes he never has to use.

Saffin spent the money on a 1936 fire truck which Denville Township was replacing. It will be used to keep brush fires on Saffin's 1,200-acre estate under control until firemen arrive.

Saffin, senior partner in the New York investment firm of Boland, Saffin, Gordon & Sautter, says he is "deathly afraid" of brush fire. He said five years ago a brush fire flared out of control and burned for a week.

Saffin says that despite the speed of firemen, "once a fire gets started, it's hard to put out."
